Raging Snowstorm Deals Heavy Blow In Northeast

21 Deaths Attributed To Weather

Many Of Homes Without Power And Traffic At Standstill

By The Associated Press

A brutal end-of-winter snowstorm, unleashed along the northeastern seaboard Thursday, raged on with mounting fury today — the official arriva day — the official arrival of spring. It delivered a smashing blow at life, property and vital services.

The vast stretch of seaboard from Maryland to New England got a deluge of snow with depths of three feet in places. Power and telephone lines were wrecked.

Hundreds of thousands of homes and offices were left without electricity for long periods. Transportation was badly snarled, if not halted completely. Stores and schools were closed at many places. Office workers encountered extreme difficulties getting to their jobs.

In some areas the havoc was termed worse than hurricanes of recent years.

At least 21 deaths were attributed to the storm, which wheeled shoreward Wednesday from off the Carolina coast and swirled northward.

It was still snowing in many of the stricken areas today, but moderating weather was forecast in most sections by late tonight or Saturday.

In Maryland the wet, freezing snowfall snapped power lines feeding some 100,000 homes. Annapolis was without power for nine hours. A large frame house in Baltimore burned to the ground when firemen were unable to surmount the drifts.

Highways were closed by fallen poles, and Pennsylvania Railroad service from Washington to New York was shut down for several hours. Nearly two feet of snow fell in the Baltimore area and about the same amount blanketed Frederick, Md. Six storm-caused deaths were reported in Maryland.

As spring officially came in at 10:06 p.m., some 300,000 persons in the area of Washington, D.C., were without electricity. Power firms said it may take another 24 hours before full service is restored.

In the nation's capital, the White House telephone system was partially knocked out for about an hour. Security police at the White House gates used walkie talkies. An evergreen tree was felled on the White House lawn. Air traffic at National Airport was cut 25 per cent. Some 10,000 homes had no telephone service.

Slashing into Pennsylvania, where six weather-connected deaths were reported, the storm caused widespread power failures in the southeastern part of the state. The town of Qley, Pa., 14

3rd Officer Files Appeal In Dismissal

Suspension Cited In Stuttler's Appeal To Claim Firing Illegal

An appeal to the Municipal Civil Service Commission was filed today by the last of three suspended patrolmen who was ordered dismissed from the force Tuesday for refusing to take a lie detector test in connection with burglary indictments pending since 1956.

Louis A. Stuttler filed the appeal from the order of Safety - Service Director Dan Maggianetti through his counsel, Atty. Samuel M. Chertoff. Robert E. Carroll and Ira W. Cunningham filed similar appeals Thursday through a Youngstown attorney.

Stuttler's brief, listing 23 points in its 8 typewritten pages, charged that the orders for the lie detector tests were issued by the director and Chief John L. Russell "for the sole purpose of forcing this appellant to refuse . . . so that these charges could be preferred against him."

His appeal also declared that the men have been under suspension since 1956, so neither the director nor the chief had the right to issue an order to them.

The brief hit at Maggianetti for conducting a hearing on the charges. In doing so, "the director places himself in the position of filing an accusation and then acting as prosecuting witness, prosecuting attorney, jury, judge and executioner," it declared.

Stuttler's reply charged that the order for him to take the lie detector test "was unwarranted, unreasonable, untenable and unsound." It declared that the director knows — or should know — "that the results of such tests are inadmissible in evidence in a court of law."

Then the brief asked a question: "Had I submitted to the test as ordered and had the test indicated negative would you, the director, have restored me to the police force, lifted my suspension and asked to have all indictments nolled?"

Stuttler's removal was based on two charges of "insubordination" filed against him for refusing the test. One order came from the chief and one was given by the director.

Stuttler's reply declared that he never has "acted in an insubordinate manner."

As in the replies of the two other

Police Battle 4-Foot Snow To Reach 800 Marooned

MORGANTOWN, Pa. (AP)—State police broke through four feet of wet, solidly packed snow today to reach the more than 800 people marooned all night in a restaurant on the snowbound Pennsylvania Turnpike.

One lane was cleared and police reached the group of motorists, truckers, entertainers, babies and others stranded in the darkened, heatless restaurant.

More than 800 of them had made their way to the Brandywine Restaurant since Wednesday night from cars, buses and trucks stranded on the turnpike by more than three feet of snow.

Some were ferried in by an Air Force helicopter, which also brought food and medical supplies for 10 persons reportedly suffering from shock and frostbite. One man, George L. Bliss, 61, Rocky River, Ohio, collapsed and died in the crowded restaurant.

Others, too frightened to leave their cars, were led in by truck drivers, who formed search parties.

The group was depressed but well organized as it waited for highway crews to clear an access road through "four feet of wet, solidly packed snow."

The turnpike was closed for 111 miles from Harrisburg to the New Jersey state line.

Dan Freeman, 39, a sales manager from suburban Philadelphia, who estimated the number packed into the restaurant, described the situation in a telephone interview.

"It's hot in here, we're depressed and very uncomfortable," he said, "but there's no panic. We're sleeping in shifts in the boiler room, storage rooms, on chairs, tables and counters. The helicopter is parked outside for the night and we'll try flying people out if the rescuers don't arrive soon."

Freeman told how the group had organized itself under the direction of three doctors, had set up an infirmary, had sent out the search parties, and had passed the hat to pay for food supplied by the restaurant manager.

Among the stranded were a group of rock 'n' roll entertainers who had planned an evening's entertainment. But the restaurant was too crowded, Freeman said, and "we canceled it."

2 Truckers, 2 In Car Hurt In Road Mishaps

Flatbed Rig Upsets At Cannons Mills; Another Hits Rails

A Steubenville trucker was injured when his rig veered off Route 30 on the curve just south of the Cannons Mills Bridge early this morning and another trucker and two Clevelanders were injured in separate mishaps on snow-covered roads Thursday night.

Joe Wilson, 39, of Steubenville was treated at City Hospital for a back injury received when his flatbed rig swerved from the road and turned upsidedown after he lost control going north into Cannons Mills about 5:30 a. m. He was driving for the M. & J. Trucking Co. of Follansbee.

Edwin Bettis, 39, of Salineville R. D. 1 suffered a laceration of the nose when his semi - trailer truck smashed into guardrails along Route 39 about 5 miles west of Wellsville last night at 10:50.

The State Highway Patrol at Lisbon said Bettis swerved off the road to avoid a collision with an unidentified auto. The truck received considerable damage, officers reported.

Joseph Gajdewski, 52, driver, and Ceal Pollock, 43, also of Cleveland, were treated at Salem City Hospital after their car veered from the road and struck an embankment along Route 14 about 2 miles east of Columbiana at 11:45 p. m.

Gajdewski, who was cited for reckless operation, suffered a laceration of the chin. The woman was treated for cuts and a fracture of the nose.

Bad Weather Forces Ike To Call Off Trip

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Eisenhower canceled his scheduled flight to West Point today because of stormy weather.

James C. Hagerty, White House press secretary, announced the cancellation.

The President had planned to go to West Point to take part in Founders' Day ceremonies and to join in honoring an atomic scientist.

Hagerty said the trip was shelved because of generally bad weather both in Washington and in the West Point area, on the ground and in the air.

The schedule had called for Eisenhower to travel by automobile from Stewart Air Force Base to the U. S. Military Academy at West Point, a distancc of about 17 miles.

Plans were made to telephone Eisenhower's scheduled brief talk to a luncheon meeting at the academy.

His schedule had called for presentation of the first Sylvanus Thayer Award to atomic scientist Ernest O. Lawrence for outstanding service to the nation. The occasion was the 156th anniversary of the academy's founding.

At West Point, it was said that Gen. Willis D. Crittenberger, Ret., president of the Assn. of Graduates, would make the presentation in place of the President.

Dr. Lawrence is a Nobel Prize winner for his work in physics. He is director of the radiation laboratory at the University of California.

The Sylvanus Thayer Award is named for the man known as the father of the Military Academy. Thayer served as superintendent at West Point from 1817 to 1833.

The Thayer award will be given annually by the Academy's Assn. of Graduates to the American citizen—graduate or nongraduate of the academy—whose service to the nation best typifies the West Point motto—"duty, honor, country."

Dr. Lawrence, a native of Canton, S.D., has been director since 1936 of the California radiation laboratory built around his early cyclotrons. He played a key role in developing the first atomic bomb.

Hunt Boycott 'Mastermind,' Mundt Urges

Cites Intimidation Of Political Figures In Kohler Strike

WASHINGTON (AP)—Sen. Mundt (R-SD) called today for a wider search for "the mastermind" behind a labor union boycott in the Kohler strike. He charged intimidation of political figures in several cities.

He said Leo Breirather, the official "boycott coordinator" for the United Auto Workers, "clearly is not the mastermind in this operation." Mundt said Breirather's testimony types him as a subordinate figure in the nationwide, sometimes story boycott effort.

Under questioning by the Senate Rackets Committee, Breirather acknowledged there are things he doesn't know about the boycott. He said its objective is to block the sale of plumbing fixtures produced by the Kohler Co. at its Wisconsin plant.

Breirather said he felt sorry for the plumbers, contractors, supply houses and others against whom the boycott has been aimed when they handled Kohler products. But he said he also felt sorry for the striking Kohler workers — himself among them — and philosophized: "People are hurt who have no business getting hurt." It all, he said, "is the result of a situation . . . deplorable . . . that seems unresolvable."

The company and the UAW handed the committee separate statements outlining points still at issue in the strike which will be four years old April 5. The statements showed them far apart.

The company now denies that the UAW could muster a majority of its workers to declare the union their collective bargaining agent if another plant election is held, and said, "The company can not lawfully deal with a minority union." The UAW won recognition and a contract in 1953.

The union listed five contract issues still in dispute — arbitration of grievances, seniority, lunch period in the enamel shop, pensions and reinstatement of strikers including some formally discharged.

Democrats Push OK On Props Freeze

WASHINGTON (AP) — Democratic leaders pushed today for fast Senate-House agreement to speed to President Eisenhower a one-year freeze of farm price supports and planting allowances.

The House passed the price freeze bill 210-172 in the face of a presidential veto threat and GOP cries of election year "politics."

Neither the House vote nor a 50-43 vote by which the Senate passed a similar bill last week equaled the two thirds necessary to override a veto.

The bill would cancel impending reductions in price supports for 1958 at a saving to the farm economy claimed by Democrats to amount to more than half a billion dollars. There was no indication when the Senate would act on it.

The Senate, meantime, passed a bill to extend for two years beyond June 30 the government's

Board Names 2 In City Jobs

Supplymen Selected At City Water Plant

Two $310 - a - month jobs at the city water department pumping and filtration plant were filled Thursday night at a meeting of Public Utilities, which administers the system.

In each case the board chose the top man on a list of three names submitted by the Municipal Civil Service Commission.

It appointed: Kermit A. Ammon, 524 Maple St., as a supplyman, and Joseph B. Burgess, 1036 St. George St., as utility supplyman.

Ammon will fill the vacancy created by the death Feb. 18 of Harold Aldridge. Ammon formerly was utility supplyman. Burgess now is an employe of the Wallover Oil Co. of Virginia Ave. He will take the city post as soon as he works out a notice with his present employer,. the board said.

Under Civil Service rules, each man will work out a 90-day probationary period before his appointment is permanent.

Meanwhile, Safety - Service Director Dan Maggianetti said he has started to receive applications for the post of temporary clerk in the sewage treatment plant, from which Mrs. Sarah Aley of W. 6th St. was discharged Tuesday for alleged "insolence."

The job pays $1.35 hourly. The clerk works in the water department office, but is subject to appointment by the director, who administers the sewage treatment system.

Target Of Housewives

Clague Has Unenviable Job Reporting Living Cost Rise

WASHINGTON (AP) — Ewan Clague has the unpleasant duty of reporting rises in living costs — and that makes him the target of housewives' protests.

His Labor Statistics Bureau has reported new record living cost levels nearly every month for more than a year.

As a family man, Clague does not like it any more than anyone else.

He is a stocky, energetic, graying, 61-year-old government career employe, serious most of the time but capable of a hearty laugh.

As commissioner of labor statistics for more than a decade, he's a key government economist. His 1,000-man staff churns out an amazing lot of information.

Clague, for example, can tell you how many houses were built last month and how many are likely this year; how many gadgets the average worker in a given industry is producing; his hours and wages; what the prices of 3,000 commodities were last week, last year or 20 years ago; how many workers, men and women, the nation will have in 1975.

But Clague's living cost figures hit the average citizen hardest. When interviewed, he was reading a housewife's letter demanding to know why, in this recession, she had to pay nearly a nickel apiece for carrots.

"It's a natural question," he conceded. "My staff prepared a reply. But it won't do. I'm rewriting it."

"Well, what is the answer?" Clague was asked.

"It isn't simple," he replied. "But generally speaking prices of most items making up the family budget don't change radically from month to month.

"Demand for food is always fairly steady. But the supply

Woman Puts Up Battle, Purse-Snatchers Flee

A woman pedestrian was hurled to the sidewalk Thursday night by two would-be purse-snatchers, but the pair fled without obtaining her pocketbook, police reported.

Miss Helen Fitzgerald, 415 W. 5th St., told police two boys attempted to wrest her purse from her about 7:30 as she walked on the north side of W. 6th St. near Jackson St. After she was thrown to the sidewalk in the struggle, the two boys ran west on W. 6th St. and disappeared into a vacant lot adjoining a grocery store, she told police.

Police said they made a widespread search of the area, but were unable to locate the two young thugs. Apparently they disappeared into the Thursday night shopping crowds, officers said. Miss Fitzgerald, her clothes torn and dirtied as a result of the struggle, was taken to her home in a police cruiser.

Personnel On Hand At Nuclear Power Site

Staff Of 135 Is Required To Handle Atomic Part Of Shippingport Plant

(This is another in a series describing the operation of the atomic power plant at nearby Shippingport, Pa. The articles are based on information furnished by scientists and engineers of the Atomic Energy Commission, the Westinghouse Electric Corp. and the Duquesne Light Co.)

The Duquesne Light Co. is responsible to the Atomic Energy Commission for supervising, operating and maintaining the nuclear portion of the Shippingport atomic power plant. Duquesne owns and operates the turbine-generator portion of the plant. A staff of about 135 people, including 26 for the test program, is required for the following duties:

Operating and maintaining all station equipment, both nuclear and conventional.

Maintaining site property, including buildings, land areas, and service systems.

Conducting an extensive test program.

Supervising the necessary industrial hygiene services including safety.

Controlling the security of the site, including equipment, materials and documents.

Providing required clerical services.

In addition to Duquesne personnel, a commission staff is maintained at Shippingport to supervise operation.

This is specified in the contract between the commission and Duquesne.

—:—

A COAL-BURNING power plant of the same capacity would employ about 66 people.

However, the Shippingport station is an entirely new venture in the power field, designed to produce considerable information for advancing the technology of generating power from nuclear sources. A future atomic power station probably could operate with no larger staff than is required for a conventional plant.

The Duquesne staff is organized into five functional groups, each headed by a supervisor reporting directly to the station superintendent: operation and maintenance group, reactor technical staff, test group, industrial hygiene group, and the secuirty and clerical group.

The supervisors of each of these five groups together with the station superintendent form the supervisory staff. The station superintendent is responsible for all station functions and the safety of personnel and equipment.

THE REACTOR technical staff of five shift reactor engineers is supervised by the reactor engineer. This group provides technical assistance to all groups with respect to reactor control, instrumentation, maintenance, and operation.

Other functions of the reactor technical staff are to establish and enforce reactor safety procedures and to administer the training programs for station personnel. Close cooperation with the chief engineer who heads the operation and maintenance group, and with the results coordinator of the test group, will be required.

The chief engineer's group is divided into an operations section and a maintenance section. The operations section is divided into three control units: the reactor, the turbine, and the electrical (switchboard) plants.

An operator is assigned to the control console of each unit in the central control room. Each shift of the operations section is headed by a station operating engineer. The maintenance section is responsible for planning, scheduling, and completing all site and station upkeep, including maintenance of controls and instruments, fuel handling, janitorial service, and operation of the reactor plant laundry.

THE TEST group is directed by the results coordinator. It will test the turbine-generator and the nuclear portions of the station, and will handle station chemical operations. Nuclear tests must have the prior approval of the Atomic Energy Commission.

The industrial hygiene group, headed by the health physicist, is responsible for radiation safety, and will control radiation monitoring, radiation surveys, determination of allowable exposure time, and protective clothing requirements. Maintaining a system of radiation records will also be a part of their function.

The security and clerical group combines conventional physical security and clerical duties with safeguarding classified documents and fissionable materials. The security officers will direct both the guard force and the clerical force.

BECAUSE qualified men are urgently needed in the nuclear power field, one of the most extensive training programs in the history of the electric power industry was instituted.

The commission began the program for Duquesne in the summer of 1954. Three training methods were used: on-the-job training, formal classroom instructions and field or inspection trips.

Training at commission installations has been primarily on-the-job experience, and this mostly at the Naval Reactors Facility at the National Reactor Testing Station in Idaho, where the crew of the Nautilus was trained.

Experience was gained in reactor plant chemistry, control, health physics, maintenance, operation, instrumentation and testing by 48 station employes, some of whom obtained actual operational experience by working with the regular site personnel.

A several weeks' course in health physics and chemistry was provided at the Materials Testing Reactor also at the Idaho station.

Both formal and on-the-job training in nuclear instrumentation and control equipment were obtained at the Savannah River plant in South Carolina.

The Bettis plant, operated for the commission by the Westinghouse Electric Corp. at Pittsburgh, also provided both formal and on-the-job training. Several members of the Shippingport staff worked with the Bettis plant pressurized water reactor project.

Staff personnel were assigned work in reactor design; construction and operation of the pressurized water reactor critical experiment; operation and maintenance of the Bettis test facility; design work in shield, fluid systems, and plant analysis; and initial assembly of the pressurized water reactor core. Formal training in radiochemistry was conducted at the Bettis plant for six Shippingport station chemists.

Club Hears Shippingport Analysis

Lessons Of A-Plant Cited

The true value of the Shippingport atomic power plant will come not from its power production but from the lessons learned there, A. L. Bethel, manager of test operations at the plant, told the Kiwanis Club Thursday at the Travelers Hotel.

Bethel, of near Pittsburgh, said the cost of coal-produced electricity is now much cheaper than atomic generated power, but in the future the demand for energy sources will make atomic power vital to the economy of the nation and the world.

"In about a month or six weeks we will begin at the Shippingport plant the real payoff tests for providing information for the next big stride in nuclear power," Bethel said.

The first low-pressure production at the plant began Dec. 2 and by Dec. 23 a full 100-hour test run at capacity power was launched, "a remarkable accomplishment of which we are very proud," the engineer declared.

Since then the testing has continued, operating the plant at different production levels and under various conditions which reflect the normal changing demands upon a generating plant. He said an automatic control system was recently added, to enable the plant to be operated more automatically.

Bethel said he believes the most immediate use of atomic power will be in foreign lands where traditional resources are depleted, such as Japan and Sweden. In a few decades however, even the United States will have such an increased demand for energy, more and more atomic power will be used to supplement other sources.

The cost of power produced at Shippingport is high, compared to other sources, but he said this is due largely to the expenses in learning about the new power-harnessing methods, extra-safety precautions and expensive initial operations which can be trimmed in subsequent projects.

Bethel said a replacement plant could be built — with lessons learned at Shippingport — which would greatly reduce the cost of power produced.

Harry Kjellman was program chairman.

Robert Metcalfe, president, announced the city club ranked second in Ohio for Kiwanis activities and third in the state for achievement. He cited David Beatty, past president, and his administration.

'State Intervention Unwise'

Catholic Group Opposes Move To Ban Union Shop

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—An organization of Ohio's highest Roman Catholic clergymen has announced its opposition to a proposed constitutional amendment to ban the union shop in the state.

The Ohio Catholic Welfare Conference made its position known in a statement issued late Thursday night.

The conference's membership includes the state's six Catholic bishops and priests and laymen who act as advisors. It deals with matters concerning the welfare of the citizens of the state.

Sponsors of the amendment to ban a union shop in Ohio hope to put it to a vote in the November election.

The Catholic organization said in its statement it feels "it is unwise to encourage state intervention in this matter."

At times, the statement said, laws have been morally valid in themselves "but inept and mischievous in their results." The statement added:

"Right to work laws seem to fall into this category where a distinction is necessary. Man has a right and a duty to work for his livelihood. This right cannot be circumscribed to the extent that a man loses his liberty of choice of a vocation; nor to the extend that he is deprived of an opportunity to support himself and his family.

"It does not follow that a man has the unconditional right to work in any and every industry or business at will.

"For reasons of social justice it may be desirable and often advantageous to the common good that a man's right be restricted by certain specified conditions.

"One of these imposed conditions may require that he belong to a labor union or at least be obliged to join the union subsequently, so as to share a responsibility with his fellow workmen in support of the union.

"Just as a citizen of the United States is free to live in Ohio, Kentucky or Pennsylvania, yet is obliged to observe the laws of the particular state as a condition of citizenship, so also in respect to his right to work; he is free to work in any industry of his choice, but only on condition that he abides by the rules adopted by that particular industry as a condition of employment. . ."

The bishops' names appearing at the end of the statement are:

Most Rev. Karl J. Alter, archbishop, Cincinnati; Most Rev. Edward F. Hoban, archbishop of Cleveland; Most Rev. Emmet M. Walsh, bishop of Youngstown; Most Rev. George J. Rehring, bishop of Toledo; Most Rev. John K. Mussio, bishop of Steubenville, and Most Rev. Clarence G. Issenmann, bishop of Columbus.

If Bulganin Took Pen In Hand

If Premier Bulganin is seeking a halt in the arms buildup pending the summit conference he says he is seeking, one forthright letter would turn the trick.

There would need to be no formal agreements, no diplomatic palaver, just a single declaration by the premier of the Union of Soviet Socialist Republics.

It would say that his government was ordering a 30 per cent reduction in its ground forces and invite military inspection teams from the NATO nations to come to Russia to observe the cut.

It would say nothing, incidentally, about planes, guided missiles, submarines, or atomic bombs. Perhaps those touchy subjects could be discussed to some good effect later, if a groundwork for confidence about Russia's intentions could be established by a significant reduction of military manpower.

The possibility of mass invasion of European territory by Russia is the specter that haunts NATO. It is the one thing that NATO nations could not offset with retaliatory power. It is, therefore, the one thing Russia could do to show enough good faith to stop the arms buildup.

No one can know for certain whether or not the men who maneuver against one another for survival in the Kremlin really believe Russia would be attacked if it diminished its own attacking power. If they do believe it, they are in total ignorance of the only country that could launch an attack. Because they are known to be in possession of as much information about the United States as the best-informed Americans, it is not credible that they believe this country could initiate war. Merely to mention such a possibility in the United States is to prove that it never could be done.

The United States and its allies are arming themselves for security against aggressive war waged by the Soviet Union. They never have been given any credible reason to believe this is not the purpose of Russia's military preparation.

If Premier Bulganin, who has hinted to Prime Minister Macmillan of Great Britain that the armament race should be called off, wants to see a miracle, all he needs to do is announce a significant cutback in Russian troops and invite inspectors to watch it.

He knows all about the cutback in NATO troops. He knows there exists no combination of military power that could be used for any purpose other than retaliatory blows if the Soviet Union started aggressive power.

Every member of NATO would jump at a chance to cut its military spending, or at least to stabilize it, if it thought it dared.

Will There Be Academic Progress?

The question naturally arises — or it will arise soon — about progress in making education in the United States respond to the constructive criticism showered on it this school year.

What changes for the better have occurred in educational practices during the school year that will be ending early in June? What improvements will have been made before the start of another school year next fall?

Will there be academic progress reports from now on that will show improvement, or the lack of improvement? Or will the vast, unwieldy system of education continue to rock along as it has been rocking along for generations, doing the best it can with what it has, within the financial and mental limitations of its teachers, administrators and the public?

The very fact that the United States invented the idea of giving all children a crack at education and that this has been the secret of its high standard of living militates powerfully against drastic changes that would upset its going-concern value.

Even if it had been proved beyond dispute that drastic changes were needed, they would be impossible in the immediate future.

What is likely to be the net result, therefore, of the well meant criticism of U.S. education that was sparked by Sputnik and the realization that backward Russia had been overhauling front-running America is a shift of interest and emphasis that will show up in about 10 years from now. Nothing will be abandoned, but emphasis will be shifted.

The shift will mean that taxpayers, parents and pupils understand belatedly that education for the masses, which is America's copyrighted idea, must include suitable education for that minority inside the mass which has extraordinary capacity.

This has been the weakness of U.S. education. It has over-concentrated on the mediocrity of the mass and given too little attention to unusual aptitudes within the mass. It has not been tough enough in admitting that education which is made too easy ceases by that very practice to be education and turns into a form of training.

If there can be a progress report within the next 10 years, that would be the most heartening idea that could evolve — the distinction between real education and all the various forms of training which are indispensable in America but are not, in fact, education.

The distinction first must be made by parents. It must be made by boards of education. It always has been made by administrators and teachers, or at least they always have known why it should be made.

State Policy On Education Of Amish

It must appear sooner or later to every Ohioan concerned about the conflict between state policy on education of children and the issue raised in Wayne County about education of Amish children beyond the 8th grade that the solution ultimately must be sought in the legislature.

To that end, which would not be attainable in any event until 1959, when the legislature meets again, the most constructive move that could be made this year would be a proposal by the Amish in this state for a policy that would be satisfactory to them —that would meet their requirements.

If the Amish, themselves, were unwilling to prepare such a proposal, it could be prepared in their behalf. This has been suggested by Rhomas D. Gindlesberger of Holmes County, a member of the Ohio House of Representatives. He has formed a committee of Holmes County citizens, including some Amish citizens, to develop a legislative proposal.

It is important to note, in this connection, that the Amish, themselves, do not think with one mind about the best way to protect their children from worldiness as they reach their teens. Some of them are inclined to believe parochial high schools would be a better solution than to terminate the education of Amish children at the end of the 8th grade. Others apparently see advantage in what is referred to as the "Pennsylvania plan," which permits high-school-age children of the Amish faith to maintain their status as pupils while working on vocational programs under supervision by their own people.

The problem that precipitated a clash in Wayne County between civil authority and the Amish will not be solved by the settlement of the legal proceedings that caused six members of the Amish faith to be jailed for contempt of court. The problem existed before the proceedings and will continue when the proceedings have ended. The solution will be found in legislation, not litigation.

The Once Over

By H. I. Phillips

Hi: With America in dither over what to do to set children straight, a bill to post the Ten Commandments in public schools meets with strong opposition. I'm spraining my intellect trying to reconcile this with the claim everything is being done to give kids right slant on human conduct.

Mother of five.

Answer: Your dizziness is excusable, mom. We're groggy, too, when basic teachings of almost every faith and creed and perhaps the greatest guide to human behavior ever written, can't get into school-rooms. Kids going to and from school and from some school windows, can see "plugs" for character-destroying influences posted almost in neon lights. They can hear street shootings, watch the squad cars roar by and get a load of horrible examples wherever they go. But there must not be any schoolroom emphasis on "Thou shalt not kill," "Thou shalt not steal," "Honor they father and mother," etc.! !

SIMMER DOWN, man, and don't try too hard to understand why anybody can hold the Ten Commandments would be anything but helpful to children, Jew, Gentile, Protestant, Catholic, Moslem or even pagan.

The old "separation of church and state" argument is being dragged in as usual, despite the fact the proposed poster of Commandments had been touched up to be in strict accord with all faiths.

You always thought separation of children from a warped idea of life, separation of moppets from a degrading future and separation of evil from good should be prime aims in these days of juvenile and adult crime. You never dreamed the separation of church and state could run them up an alley. Just take another aspirin, mom.

WE HEAR THE RUSSIAN amusement commisars took Bob Hope to the tombs of Stalin and Lenin and commanded, "You're so good, let's see you make them laugh."

Now that the Sheraton-Astor has reverted to its old name of the Astor it's easier for a stutterer to make a date in the famous lobby.

Victory Seen Without A Strike

By Victor Riesel

CLEVELAND

Victor Riesel

Some people are still eating cake. For them, an auto company here is building a car called the Argonaut — some models of which will cost $20,000 to roll home. The Argonaut Corp., which builds its chassis here and assembles the regal coaches in Italy, apparently isn't worried about customers or the backlog of one million unsold cars of the insomiac auto companies over in Detroit.

If the sleepless Detroit executives need someone to talk to these nights, they can telephone an equally disturbed Walter Reuther who has the problem of slowly applying power brakes to the big strike machinery he and his colleagues threw into high gear a couple of months back.

In these hours before the Auto Workers' Union bargaining team walks in next Tuesday morning to begin negotiations with General Motors — the naked fact is that Reuther and his aides do not want a strike at this time.

Throwing hundreds of thousands of auto workers on the picket lines this summer would cut them off from virtually everything but bread and butter and soup kitchen relief. If, instead, the men are laid off by the companies — as many will be—they would be eligible to take home state relief and a special additional sum from the company itself under the partial guaranteed annual wage, known as supplemental unemployment benefits, a gimmick the car companies agreed to in their last contract.

FURTHERMORE the companies are in a perfect position to sit out a strike until the end of the summer when they have to get into production of their new models. Much of the country's hope for some economic recovery depends on the sales of these new models next winter.

In the meantime, the auto industry could sell the million new piled-up autos and make a profit without running up any expenses if their plants were shut down by pickets.

What's more, Reuther is as sensitive to the public denunciations which follow poor public relations as a mother is to the simper of a newly born infant.

Reuther knows that any delay of the production of new models could have the public blaming him personally for striking against "prosperity" itself.

So his first strategy is expected to be a bid for a four-month extension of the Big Three auto contracts covering GM, Ford and Chrysler.

By late summer the nation will know if we're on the way back to two chickens in every pot and, more important to this industry, another car in every garage. If the country's economy is picking up, Reuther's union will, of course, be in a stronger bargaining position.

For an awareness of all this, the auto companies don't need smoke signals from Solidarity House, Reuther's national headquarters. The industry knows it has the auto Union, with almost 400,000 members jobless, at its weakest since the boys sat down and in during the '37 strikes.

LAST WEEK, one of President Eisenhower's top aides was in Detroit for a series of talks. He came away with the impression that the companies will ask for a one-year extension of the present contract. This would mean no raise and get a big "no" from Reuther.

The companies then are expected to counter with the offer of a two-year contract, to airlift the negotiations right over the recession, with a three dollars a week package increase.

Nobody can say for sure what Reuther and his bargainers will settle for.

The Auto Union people, who haven't given much recent thought to the profit sharing proposals, have been thinking of a $10 a week package or about 25 cents an hour.

They are reportedly willing to come down to $8 weekly or 20 cents an hour more per worker. This means — according to White House observers who would be called in to help settle the conflict — that the field of battle now narrows down to that nickel difference. In any event, there will be a good sized wage increase — by 1958 measurements.

In the industrial areas through which I've been driving, the boys will give you odds that it will be won without a strike this year.

The Klan Fades Away

By Jim Laxson

Two hooded, white-robed figures meet on a barren, windswept field on the outskirts of a Southern town.

"Ayak?" asks one.

"Akia," replied the other.

This Ku Klux Klan sign — "are you a Klansman?" and countersign, "A klansman I am" has been repeated countless times, usually amid burning crosses and burning oratory.

But the klan as a potent or influential force is disappearing from the Southern scene.

It is, in fact, nonexistent in many areas where its night riding sorties once brought terror to the hearts of white persons and Negroes alike.

Some chapters, or klaverns, have died on the vine. Others have disbanded or have gone underground under pressure from the courts and public opinion. Anti-mask laws have forced klansmen into the open.

Except for isolated incidents of serious violence in a few areas, their activities are on the wane.

Following the U. S. Supreme Court school desegregation decision in 1954, the Knights of the Invisible Empire enjoyed a brief surge, but now their political influence is practically nil.

In scattered areas recently, the klan has raised its hooded head.

Normally peaceful Lumbee Indians broke up a klan rally in North Carolina with pistol and rifle shots — and a klan leader was convicted for inciting a riot.

There have been a few beatings, numerous cross burnings — some attributed to pranksters by police — and a lot of oratory usually directed against the Negro or other minority groups.

The old theme emphasized patriotism. The modern emphasis is on segregation.

There is no way to estimate numbers in the hooded orders. Klansmen refuse to discuss membership details; they say they are sworn to secrecy.

Eldon L. Edwards is the imperial wizard of the U.S. klans, Knights of the Ku Klux Klan Inc., probably the largest of all the klan outfits.

Edwards, 48 - year - old spray painter at an Atlanta auto assembly plant, said the theme of his group is protection.

"Protection of the quality of the blood, of the flag, the home, women and children of this county. And charity. We do more charity in some areas than the Red Cross but we never get credit for it."

The original KKK was spawned in the dark days of the Reconstruction — days of tumult and lawlessness following the Civil War. The klan helped bring order out of chaos. Its methods were brutal and sometimes illegal but it attracted many influential political and business leaders.

After order was restored and home rule re-established, the klan disbanded and left law enforcement to elected officials.

The klan rose again after World War I but it was rocked by scandals and fell into disrepute.

After World War II, Dr. Samuel Green, Atlanta obstetrician, revived the klan but it hasn't held together as in its earlier days. Green passed the reins to Edwards.

There has been little or no recent klan activity in Louisiana, Arkansas, Mississippi, Virginia, Texas, Missouri, Kentucky and Oklahoma, a survey by The Associated Press shows.

In Tennessee, there is little activity except in Chattanooga where a new group reportedly is being formed.

Odd Facts

The world's largest military highway vehicle is believed to be the U. S. Army's experimental tank transporter. Powered by two 560-horsepower air-cooled gasoline engines, requiring two drivers in the front and two in the back, the truck is 90 feet long and has telephone communication between front and rear drivers to coordinate its movement. The big truck can carry a 40-ton tank.

The name of the bird, canary, was given to it because the bird was first taken from the Canary Islands. But the Island were so named from their large dogs ("dog" in Latin is "canis"). So the canary bird has a name which means "dog."

A Two-Way Stretch

By David Lawrence

What About 'The Law Of The Land'?

David Lawrence

Most people probably will be shocked to learn that the Supreme Court of the United States has just ruled that it's all right for the federal Internal Revenue Service to grant an income tax deduction on expenses incurred by persons who are engaged in operating businesses that violate state laws. Thus, the State of Illinois has a law forbidding the operation of gambling enterprises but the Supreme Court of the United States says the persons engaged in it had a right to deduct rent and the wages of their employes before paying federal taxes on profits.

The U.S. Tax Court had found that these enterprises were illegal under Illinois law, that the acts performed by the employes constituted violations of that law, that the payment of rent for the use of the premises was also illegal under that law and that hence the amounts paid for wages and rents should not be allowed as a deduction for federal income - tax purposes.

The Supreme Court, however, reversing this view, said the expenses were "ordinary and necessary" and hence deductible. The court pointed to a regulation of the U.S. Internal Revenue code which permits the deduction of federal excise taxes levied on persons "engaged in the business of accepting wagers or conducting wagering pools or lotteries."

HOW THE Supreme Court could tolerate such a regulation, which makes it more profitable for persons violating state laws to conduct their businesses, is a mystery that is not explained by a reading of the text of the latest decision. In fact, on Monday of this week the Supreme Court handed down two other decisions that refused to allow deductions for income tax purposes on the thousands of dollars paid by trucking companies in state fines incurred in violation of state laws. These laws penalize truck drivers for excess weights of loads in their trucks.

The court said in its opinion that, even if the truck drivers and their companies "acted with all due care and without willful intent, it is clear that allowance of the deduction sought by the petitioner would severely and directly frustrate state policy."

Yet, in the third decision, involving deductions of expenses by gambling establishments, the Supreme Court closed its eyes to the possible "frustration" of state policy by making it easier for the gambling enterprises to make money. Certainly if their expenses were not held deductible, the added burden would operate as a penalty against their continuance of enterprises outlawed by the legislature of the State of Illinois.

The Supreme Court took refuge in the fact that the U.S. Internal Revenue regulations permit the taking of such deductions. But this does not explain why the court, which can at any moment invalidate a federal statute, could not declare invalid the regulation of a governmental bureau insofar as it operates to frustrate those policies and criminal statutes of a sovereign state designed to maintain law and order.

It now would appear that, if the Bureau of Internal Revenue chooses to allow the owner of a disorderly house to take deductions for wages paid the inmates and for rent and other items of expense, the Supreme Court, to be consistent, would have to rule that these deductions from income taxes are just as permissible as deductions for the expenses of a gambling enterprise.

WHERE DOES morality begin and end in the laying down of "the supreme law of the land"? Most citizens have been told by defenders of the Supreme Court in recent months that, even though the court decision on desegregation, for example, wasn't exactly in accord with legal precedent, it would have been a violation of "the moral law" to have ruled otherwise.

As a result of the latest decision in the gambling case, the citizen who obeys moral law and the laws of his state is placed under a handicap. He has to pay more federal income taxes than otherwise would be the case because other citizens are allowed deductions for immoral and illegal activities.

Nothing evidently can be done except by Congress to protect the states against federal action which increases the profits obtained by owners of certain illicit enterprises. For the present paradox is sanctioned by the Supreme Court of the United States and now becomes "the law of the land."

How Much Disarmament?

By James Marlow

WASHINGTON

Just how much disarmament can this country stand when the government is anxious to shoot the economy upwards, and keep it there, and big defense spending means jobs and profits?

It's an unpleasant but realistic question which hovers over the prospects for a disarmament agreement with the Soviets. Almost 40 billion dollars — of this year's record peacetime budget of almost 74 billion — is for defense.

It's not hard to imagine what a big slash in defense spending could do, particularly in this recession period when the government is trying to strengthen the economy to stimulate employment and production.

The Soviets have repeatedly charged that prosperity under capitalism is artificial and based on war spending or war preparations.

Since the Communists completely control their economy and manpower, it is possible they might be able to chop down their own huge defense spending and stay on an even keel. They still have to show they can.

But the Republicans have also complained of the artificiality of American prosperity — under the Democrats. The latter were in charge before, during and after World War II and before and during the Korean War.

In their 1952 campaign platform the Republicans said of the Democrats: "They claim prosperity, but the appearance of economic health is created by war expenditures, waste and extravagance, planned emergencies and war crises."

They took another crack at the Democrats in 1956. The fact is, the American economy has not stood on its own feet since the depression days of the early 1930s.

First, there were the big New Deal spending programs to get out of the depression. They didn't quite make it. There were still almost 10 million unemployed when defense spending began in 1939.

At the peak of the war effort — in 1944 — unemployment had dropped to an annual average of 670,000 when almost 12 million men and women were in uniform.

The war created a gigantic, pent-up demand for goods and services. And the economy boomed after the war but then started to slide in 1949. Came the Korean War of 1950 and the economy soared up again.

It slid again in 1954 but the country, while maintaining peace although putting huge sums into defense, righted itself and went up to new peaks of prosperity.

Now it's in another slide even though the government is planning record peacetime spending for defense next year.

Purely Personal

By Truman Twill

Something has been happening to my ever-normal supply of paper clips. For the first time, I am not taking in as many as I put out. The explanation is the increasing use of desk-size staplers.

As a one-time backstage worker in amateur theatricals, the outstanding work of the set designers on TV plays often seems more noteworthy to me than the work of the actors who appear in front of the sets.

I cannot decide whether it is an advantage or a disadvantage to be able to remember what was learned the hard way and thereafter forgotten about government intercession in a previous slowdown of business activity.

The more I find out about the probable circumstances of existence on the moon, the less inclined I am to want to go there. The "bad lands" of the Dakotas would be easier to bear and almost as remote.

It could be encroaching age but it also could be a fact that 1958 so far has produced the most dismal weather in memory and that the weather has as much to do with some of our economic problems as any of the things the economists talk about.

I find it saves much time and averts much confusion to avoid all stories about the didoes of theatrical personalities, which go on endlessly and lead nowhere.

The hardest writing assignment I ever have tackled was a letter notifying members of my college class that this is the year for another reunion. It took me more than two months to get down to work on it and five minutes to write it.

Nothing that has been happening in sports for years has tickled my fancy like the race horse Silky Sullivan, the one that makes a habit of dropping out of the race until it's almost over, then catching up.

Some Farms Seen Planning Hog Increase

WASHINGTON (AP) — Farm officials expressed belief today that some farmers may be planning excessive increases in the production of hogs during the summer and fall seasons.

An Agriculture Department survey covering 10 corn belt states showed that farmers there plan to farrow 13 per cent more sows during the June-August quarter of this year than a year earlier.

This increase would come on top of a more modest 6 per cent increase in the December-May spring crop over the 1957 spring crop. This upturn is in line with suggestions of federal farm officials. The latter caution that there is great danger that hog prices will drop to levels unfavorable to the farmers next year if production is increased too much.

Recent market conditions have been conducive to a big increase. Hogs have been bringing unusually favorable prices in relation to feed costs. A farmer with corn and other feed grains has been able to make much more by feeding it to hogs than by selling the grain or putting it under price support loans.

Secretary of Agriculture Benson has said that he believes farmers will go slow in expanding production of hogs. He says many remember sharp price declines of 1955 and 1956—downturns that followed expanded production.

The corn belt states, which include Ohio, Indiana, Illinois, Wisconsin and Iowa, normally produce about 75 per cent of the nation's hogs.

FOPA To Supply 'Y' Memberships For Needy Youths

The Fraternal Order of Police Associates Lodge Thursday night approved a proposal to furnish memberships in the YMCA for five underprivileged boys as a way of helping fight potential juvenile delinquency.

The FOPA, meeting in its rooms in Diamond Alley, also approved a plan to pay registration fees to send underprivileged boys to the Y's summer camp, Pine Ridge in Madison Township. The organization said YMCA memberships and summer camp fees also will be provided by Old Home Week, Inc., comprised of FOPA and FOP members.

It was announced that Safety-Service Director Dan Maggianetti has accepted an invitation to speak at the next meeting April 17. D. F. Cotton of Youngstown, state FOPA president, also will attend.

The group saw a film on underground storage of gas shown by W. T. McIntyre, district manager of the Manufacturers Light & Heat Co.

Changes in by - laws were approved on final reading. Refreshments were served.

Reminder Given Farmers About Land Retirement

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Agriculture Department reminded farmers today that the period for withdrawing land from the acreage reserve of the soil bank land retirement program expires March 28.

Farmers had signed contracts or filed applications to retire slightly more than 18 million acres allotted them under control programs for production of cotton, corn, wheat, rice and tobacco. For doing this, they would earn payments totaling about 750 million dollars.

But because of shortages of some better grades and qualities of cotton, farm officials have been encouraging farmers to withdraw some cotton land from the soil bank and put it to cotton. In the case of corn, more land had been offered for retirement than could be paid for under limitations set by the law.

miles southeast of Reading, reported 36 inches of snow. The Harrisburg area was struggling under a 30-inch fall.

The Pennsylvania Turnpike was closed for 111 miles from Harrisburg to the New Jersey state line. An estimated 800 persons were stranded at a small restaurant on the turnpike near Morgantown, Pa.

At Camden, N.J., a state of emergency was declared in Camden County. Civil defense officials ordered all public and parochial schools closed because of the danger from live electrical wires pulled down by the snow. Half a million homes and business establishments in the heavily populated area were without light and heat.

At Glassboro, N.J., some 5,000 persons were evacuated from their heatless homes to heated public schools.

Manhattan was fortunate, with only a 3½-inch snowfall but there was deep slush and the snow began again at dawn. On suburban Long Island, 100,000 homes were blacked out by power failure. Heavy snow and high winds raised havoc with transportation.

In upstate New York, 20 inches of snow was measured at Gardenville, near Port Jervis in Orange County. Speed limits on the New York state thruway were cut to 35 miles per hour from New York City to New Paltz, in Ulster County.

Moving into New England, the raging storm knocked down power lines and virtually halted transportation in Rhode Island.

changes. Right now the supply is short because of the Florida crop freezes.

"Take things like haircuts, rents, streetcar fares, medical fees, gas and electric rates — these prices change but not too often and not too much. They don't respond immediately to general economic trends."

Clague was born Dec. 27, 1896, on a farm outside Prescott, Wash. He says he was never too good at mathematics, and recalls one particularly unpleasant year's struggle with trigonometry.

But he liked research and statistics and kept at it. In 1933 he was one of a group of outsiders named to study Labor Department statistical services. In 1946 he became head of the bureau.

Two Planes Have Mishaps In Storm But None Injured

NEW YORK (AP) — Two big airliners — one Bermuda-bound and the other headed for Copenhagen — were involved in accidents at Idlewild Airport during the snowstorm Thursday night. No one was injured.

A Pan American World Airways DC6 bound for Bermuda took off successfully but Capt. Edward Lawler, 43, Fanwood, N.J., reported the nose wheel would not retract and he headed back to the field.

After landing, the plane groundlooped (spun around). The 11 occupants were shaken up but none reported injury. It was believed an accumulation of slush and snow lodged in the nose wheel housing and became frozen.

Earlier, a Scandinavian Airlines DC7 skidded 100 feet off the runway while starting to take off. Fifty persons aboard escaped injury.

China Producers Form New Guild To Promote Ware

Ten producers of hotel and restaurant ware, including two in the East Liverpool area, have formed the American Restaurant China Manufacturers Association, which will launch an extensive campaign to show the advantages and merits of their products.

Robert E. Gould of Buffalo China, Inc., at Buffalo, N. Y., who heads the new group, said it will launch the first industrywide advertising and publicity program to show that "it's not the same old china."

"It's a modern product made with modern methods and offering today's user high breakage resistence," Gould said.

The campaign will stress the ware's resistance to chipping, its safety because of lack of explosive hazards, its durable and scratch - free surface, resitance to staining and "bright and appetizing appearance," he said.

In addition to Buffalo China, members of the guild are: Wellsville China Co. and Sterling China Co., both of Wellsville; Caribe China Co. of Puerto Rico; Jackson Vitrified China Co., Mayer China Co., Shenango China, Inc., Syracuse China Corp., Walker China Co. and Wallace China Co., Ltd.

suspended men yesterday, Stuttler said the order for the test was "discriminatory" because it was given only to the three, not to all members of the police department.

The Civil Service Commission is the next step in the avenue of appeal. If the dismissals are upheld there, the next step would be an appeal to Common Pleas Court at Lisbon.

The first orders for the lie detector tests were issued March 10. The three men sent registered letters declining to submit. A few days later, charges under Civil Service law were filed against them by the chief. At a hearing on the charges Monday, Maggianetti ordered the men dismissed. Then the appeals followed.

Engineers Told To Take Interest In Government

CLEVELAND (AP) — Engineers should put down their slide rules and calculating boards once in a while and take a more active interest in community and government affairs.

That was the advice given 200 persons at the opening session of the Ohio Society of Professional Engineers' 9th annual convention Thursday night. The speaker was Allen H. Kidder, research chief of the Philadelphia Electric Co.

"We've been too long leaving it to men of law and letters to make the decisions that affect not only the community but the comforts and conveniences," Kidder told the engineers.

Engineers properly should exercise more voice in matters of public services, roads and public functions, Kidder said.

Walker, Broski To Coach North, South Cage Squads

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Paul Walker of Middletown's defending state champions, and John Broski of Cleveland East Tech's challengers, will coach the South and North All-Stars, respectively, in the first annual intra-state high school basketball game June 20 at Troy.

The selections were made Thursday night as district delegates of the Ohio High School Basketball Coaches Assn. met here.

Personnel of the two 10-man all-star squads also was selected by the mentors on a statewide vote, but announcement was delayed until after the state tournament.

Walker will coach the All-Ohio quintet which faces Kentucky's standouts June 14 at Middletown. The Middletown mentor, in 11 years at the Middie helm, has piled up five state championships and a 248-39 won-lost record. Undoubtedly Jerry Lucas, his three-time All-Ohio choice, will be one of the players on his rebel quintet in the North-South fracas.

Broski will be assisted by Dan Baker, coach of Northwestern team of Wayne County, which has won 27 straight victories this season and meets Dixie (27-0) of Montgomery County in today's class A semi-finals in the state meet.

Broski, in his fourth year at Cleveland East Tech, has reached the state finals twice—this year with a 24-0 record. His overall record is 93-12.

Walker's assistant will be J. Franklin Miller of Pleasantville, also a state finalist with a 22-3 record. Pleasantville goes against Bucyrus Holmes-Liberty (24-0) in today's state playoffs.

The coaches will announce later the 10 northern and 10 southern Ohio players comprising the squads for the contest, to be played at Troy's Hobart Arena.

Saxbe Rulings Hit Job Status Of 2 Officials

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Opinions by the attorney general today ruled the appointment of a Cabinet member was illegal and blocked the planned appointment of a second department director.

Atty. Gen. William Saxbe held the appointment of Dr. Robert Haines as director of the Department of Mental Hygiene and Correction, although improperly made, enabled him to continue in office.

Gov. C. William O'Neill declined comment on the ruling until he has time to study it, but State Auditor James A. Rhodes said he will cut Haines off the state payroll.

Saxbe also ruled that O'Neill lacks legal authority to appoint Charles M. Noble as state highway director. Noble, since early last year, has served as secretary to the governor in charge of highways until he could meet Ohio residence qualifications for a year's residence before appointment to the Cabinet post.

The opinion said that in the absence of a highway director, first assistant George J. Thormyer legally can discharge the duties of director.

The attorney general ruled in still a third opinion that Forest G. Ketner can continue to serve as a trustee of Ohio State University although he lacks a legal right to that office. O'Neill's appointment of Ketner to another term as trustee was not confirmed by the Ohio Senate during the last Legislative session.

Rights of all three officials to their posts hinge on Senate confirmation of their appointments as required by law.

"When there is a vacancy by expiration of a term 'or otherwise' while the Senate is convened," Saxbe said, "it is mandatory upon the governor to fill the vacancy 'and forthwith report' it to the Senate.

A Wise Precaution...

Always read the directions on the label of your perscription. These are your doctor's instructions. They must be followed carefully if you are to obtain the results and benefits for which the prescription is intended. Taking prescribed medicine in larger quantities or at more frequent intervals than specified will not hasten your recovery. In fact, "over-dosing" can be injurious—particularly with certain potent drugs that are prescribed in small quantities. Following the directions is a wise precaution . . . a health safeguard.

Keep In Trim

By IDA JEAN KAIN

Fashion Puts Spotlight On Slim Legs

With the fashion emphasis on shorter skirts and red shoes, requests for leg-slimming exercises are pouring in. This letter is quite typical:

Ida Jean Kain

"Why is there never anything said by the physical culturists about fat legs? I have spent a great deal of time in the libraries searching for good leg exercises, and have come to the conclusion that nobody has fat legs except me, and that to have them is a hopeless situation with the less said the better. Why?"

There is no blinking the fact that we inherit the limbs of our family tree, and that the tendency to thin or stocky legs appears to run in families.

—:—

THE EXTENT to which legs can be improved depends on whether the heftiness is due to fatty accumulation and flabby muscles or to bony structure. Bony structure cannot be changed.

If the leg bones are big, and the muscles short and thick, there is nothing that can change that. However, corrective exercises can help to slenderize fat legs and tone flabby leg musculature.

The principle of leg-slimming exercises is to stretch the calf muscle, pulling the muscle long and smooth. The technique is to point the heel, that is, lead with the heel in any exercise movement. For example, try walking on your heels, barefoot. As you walk curl your toes toward instep.

Many models kick off their shoes as soon as they get home and "walk" on the heels and dance around, combining contracting and stretching exercise movements to keep leg muscles toned and shapely.

Here's a tip from the experts: Wear wool tights or long wool underwear while exercising to slim the legs. The warmth of the wool keeps leg muscles supple, and this, combined with stretching, makes for long, smooth muscles. The professional dancer and skaters usually do their practice workouts in long woolies. Or you can wear knee-length wool socks while exercising to give the needed warmth.

In the interest of slimming the legs, make sure to lead with the heel while exercising — that is, point the heel and curl toes toward instep. Try this exercise:

Sit on floor with legs spread wide apart. Curl toes toward instep—hold. You will feel this stretch through the calf muscles. To make this exercise even more effective, bend forward, grasp toes with fingertips, and forcibly pull toes toward instep. Be sure to keep knees flat on floor. Pull—hold—relax. Repeat about three times, later more.

—:—

WALKING is excellent leg exercise, provided the walking is done in medium heels. Walking in spike heels is no help.

In walking, be sure to point toes straight ahead, with weight thrown toward the outer borders of the feet.

Send a long, stamped, selfaddressed envelope for illustrated exercise leaflet entitled, "Leg Normalizing Exercises." Address your request to Ida Jean Kain, in care of this newspaper. Post card requests cannot be answered.

Woman Taken Into Custody In Swindle Case

YOUNGSTOWN, Ohio (AP)—Taken into custody as a material witness in the Youngstown insurance swindle investigation, Mrs. Mary Shade, 32, was brought to Mahoning County Jail Thursday night.

Her husband Paul still is being sought by police. They say he fled from a police net four weeks ago when John J. Tobin Jr., central figure in the case, was arrested in Houston, Tex.

Mrs. Shade was arrested by Youngstown officers near Lima, Ohio, where she has been living with relatives.

County Prosecutor Thomas A. Beil says Mrs. Shade has been in constant contact with her missing husband, although she maintains she does not know where he is.

The case involves about $250,000 worth of false claims for insurance. Tobin, an adjustor for an insurance company, has admitted embezzlement. Shade, a business associate, is among a dozen charged with aiding and abetting the swindle.

Mt. Union Speeds Its Building Plans

ALLIANCE, OHIO — Mt. Union College will continue to move forward in its building program as a result of actions taken by the Board of Trustees.

College officials will confer with architects within the next several weeks to explore remodeling possibilities of Lamborn Science Hall, which houses the biology and geology departments.

Improvements of three - story Lamborn Hall will complete the science facilities. The $600,000 Wilson Science Hall, named in honor of the father of former Defense Secretary Charles E. Wilson, was dedicated last week.

The latest step in the building program is that of the campus health center. Cornerstone ceremonies are being planned for the commencement weekend. The $64,000 center is expected to be completed during the summer.

The board has authorized the filing of preliminary applications for federal loans for both an all-campus dining commons and a new men's residence hall.

It also was decided to launch preliminary studies for a new music building.

We Should Herald Values Other Than Money

I wish children were more often told of the many men and women who serve in Sunday school and church, on Scout and Red Cross committees, on hospital boards, school boards, as volunteer firemen and the like. They're people who give hours and hours of time without pay. Their reward is in doing a worthwhile job. Our children live in a world in which money so often measures all values. These children are apt to suppose a person's income and salary measure his importance. This notion is amplified by what they read and hear about the fabulous salaries of performers on TV.

Garry C. Meyers

LET US OFTEN remind our children of the persons we know who are paid by the mere fact that they're doing good for others.

Let us talk with them about the men and women of the world, down through the ages, who are not remembered for their wealth but for their deeds.

I refer to such immortals as Clara Barton, Susan B. Anthony, George Washington Carver, Pasteur, Benjamin Franklin and Abraham Lincoln.

When our children talk about what they wish to make their life's career and when they name the field in which they think they can do the most good in the world, let's not remind them of other fields which promise more money.

My bulletins, "The Young Child and His Religion" and "Graces and Prayers for Children", may be had by sending a self-addressed, U.S. stamped envelope to me in care of this newspaper.

SMU President Backs Students On Ex-Red Editor

DALLAS (AP)—Dr. Willis M. Tate, president of Southern Methodist University, has given his support to a student group which invited a former Communist newspaper editor to appear on the campus.

The invitation to John Gates, former editor of the now-defunct Daily Worker, to appear April 23 in a panel discussion has been opposed by three Dallas civic groups and the SMU student newspaper.

Tate said he would "stand behind the rights of this student group to engage in this study, on the grounds that to do so is to encourage them to be prepared to recognize and combat the communism conspiracy."

Visitors' Day Held In Wrong Valve Turn

ZANESVILLE, Ohio (AP) — Someone turned the wrong valve and 1,743 homes here had callers.

Gas was to be shut off in an existing line while a new line was tied in. Instead, someone turned the valve that shut off gas to homes in southwestern Zanesville.

Fuel gas company crews had to visit each of the 1,743 homes to shut off all gas outlets before the gas line could be re-opened. Then they had to go back and turn on the outlets again.

Dam 8 at Newell estimated the fall at over 2 inches. The State Highway Department Garage at Leetonia said the rural areas got about 1½ inches.

District highway crews, who have had one of their busiest winters in years, wearily got out their cindering trucks about midnight as the accumulation deepened.

The Leetonia garage said all 18 crews worked until 7:30 a. m. today spreading ashes and chemicals. Two crews returned to the job this morning as more snow fell. But the fall ceased after about an hour.

Trucks and cars were tied up on Route 7 at Williamsport's snow-slick hills and curves and at other grades in the county, according to the State Highway Patrol at Lisbon who said road conditions were hazardous.

Highways in Hancock County were termed in "fair" shape and were being ashed by five crews this morning, the Pughtown Garage of the West Virginia State Road Commission reported.

Officials said that the dangerous Route 30 hill near Chester was being ashed but they urged motorists to drive with care.

Cindering began last night at 11, they said.

Highways in Jefferson County are in "fair" condition with most wet and slushy, the Wintersville Highway Patrol reported. At least two accidents were attributed to slippery roads.

A street department crew was called out at 3 this morning to spread ashes and salt in slippery spots — particularly the tops of grades — Supt. W. M. Laughlin said. The ashing continued at midmorning as more wet snow fell.

Towboat Frees Itself After 5 Hours On Bar

The towboat Chandeleur finally pulled its tow of three barges off the Yellow Creek bar Thursday afternoon after spending five hours aground.

The barges, loaded with 3,000 tons of liquid asphalt hung up on the bar between the mouth of the creek and Flagpole Hill shortly after locking through Dam 8 at Newell at 10:19 a. m. The boat managed to whip itself free as Dam 8 was preparing to let more water into the pool to float it off the obstruction. It passed through Dam 9 at New Cumberland at 4:15 p. m., bound for New Orleans.

authority to dispose of farm surplus commodities abroad in exchange for foreign currencies, or as gifts in case of disaster.

Passage came on a voice vote after the Senate rejected 44-39 an effort by Sen. Humphrey (D-Minn) to force Secretary of Agriculture Benson to use barter deals for at least half a billion dollars worth of surpluses each year. Permissive authority for barter remains.

The Senate bill authorizes disposal of an added 3½ billion dollars of farm commodities during the extension period. The administration had asked a one-year extension and authority for disposal of 1½ billion dollars of commodities.

The disposal bill now goes to the House.

The measure freezing price supports and acreage allotments was limited by the House to one year. The Senate last week passed the bill without a shutoff date. A compromise of the differences will be necessary unless the Senate accepts the House version.

To Halt Business Downturn

Alcorn Says Democrats Would Spend 'At Random'

DELAWARE, Ohio (AP) — Meade Alcorn, chairman of the Republican National Committee, said today Democrats would spend federal funds "at random" to halt the business downturn.

Republicans, he added, are not willing to "hand our grandchildren a billion dollar bill for 1958 leaf-raking."

The GOP chairman, in an address prepared for Ohio Wesleyan University's student assembly, said the difference between the two parties on the current recession is this:

"The Democrats see in this a negative, hard-times issue on which their various splinter groups can unite. Their answer is two-fold: (1) Mount a massive publicity barrage of professional pessimism to shake confidence in the future and (2) wheel out their traditional and only economic weapon, the federal treasury, and fire it off pretty much at random in all directions.

"We Republicans see in the downturn a temporary challenge to the working partnership of government and private initiative. We refuse to spread fear and panic among our people.

"We refuse to believe that the bright future of America has suddenly dimmed. We quietly loosen credit, encourage enterprise and carry out a solid economic program to stimulate and accelerate spending only for things the country needs."

Alcorn said the theory that the political independent represents the acme of good citizenship is a mistaken idea that has flourished far too long on too many college campuses. He argued that political independence carried to its logical conclusion "would destroy the two-party system."

The self-styled "lawyer on leave" chairman advised against anti-labor legislation in an address Thursday to about 200 GOP county chairmen and state committee members in Columbus.

Newsmen asked later if he was referring to:

A proposed amendment to the Ohio Constitution outlawing union shops, or the state administration's planned appeal from court approval of simultaneous supplemental unemployment benefits and state unemployment compensation.

"Those are matters of state determination," Alcorn replied. "The national committee has not and will not take a position on either question."

On another subject, he said labor's rank-and-file is "disenchanted" with union leadership, but said he is "unalterably opposed to utilizing the present labor sentiment to enact anti-labor or labor-baiting legislation."

Turning to the November election, Alcorn said the GOP will have a hard time winning control of Congress, but may improve its 17-7 House majority of Ohioans. He did not say which seats the Republicans hope to take from the Democrats, but the state Republican chairman, Ray C. Bliss, has mentioned hopes of capturing the 18th District seat held by Rep. Wayne L. Hays.

Rocky River Private Pilot Dies In Crash

FINDLAY, Ohio (AP) — A Rocky River private pilot crashed on a Hancock County farm Thursday night and his body was found in the wreckage of his light plane which was located this morning by the Ohio Highway Patrol.

The Civil Aeronautics Administration identified the victim as Donald W. English of (2000 Frazier Dr.) Rocky River.

English was an employe of the House and Home Division of Time, Inc., publisher of the news magazine. He was flying on company business when he crashed, a Time spokesman said.

The plane was found just off Ohio 103, west of Arlington, a community about 10 miles south of Findlay.

The Civil Aeronautics Administration. Air Traffic Communications station at Findlay said the pilot of the tri-pacer with a non-retractable tricycle landing gear, apparently had taken off from a Cleveland or Lorain County airport Thursday. The pilot's first contact with the Findlay CAA came about 6:40 p. m., when he reported difficulty in descending through clouds to find Findlay Airport.

A CAA spokesman said the light plane apparently was icing up when it tried to penetrate the clouds. He said the last report, in which the pilot said he was "going down fast," came at 9:15 p. m.

A two-engine plane flying from Toledo to Dayton, and believed to be owned by Champion Sparkplug Co., attempted to assist the Tri-Pacer pilot, the CAA said. It is unlikely the light plane pilot carried a parachute, the spokesman added.

Top GI Could Earn $10,000 Yearly Under Proposed Plan

WASHINGTON (AP) — A top enlisted man in the U. S. armed services could make more than $10,000 a year if Congress passes the military pay bill the House will consider Monday.

An officer could make more than $31,000.

These would be rare cases, but compensation of practically all career men in the armed services would be stepped up considerably, and the raises would be heftiest in the top brackets of both enlisted and officer ranks. This is deliberate policy, to encourage men to make their careers in uniform.

Moreover, the services would be authorized to give enlisted men special promotions, or extra pay up to $1,800 a year, if they became proficient in skills needed by the services.

Disregarding scattered complaints that a bill estimated to cost more than 660 million dollars a year was being rushed without much consideration, the House Armed Services and Rules committees highballed the measure through. It was set down for debate Monday. A vote by Tuesday seemed likely.

Rep. Kilday (D-Tex), chairman of the Armed Services subcommittee, said he expected it to produce a "more stable, more efficient force for national defense."

The services have been complaining they cannot keep highly, and expensively, trained technicians or talented young officers, and that the cost of training new batches every year is oppressive.

As examples of the increases that the bill would provide, the Armed Services Committee calculated that a captain Navy lieutenant would get a 14 per cent boost, a colonel Navy captain 20 per cent, and a four-star general or admiral 32 per cent, assuming typical lengths of service.

Officers and enlisted men with less than two years service—most of whom would be doing obligated service — would get no raises.

To obtain the absolute top enlisted figure, a man would have to have 25 years' service, be promoted to the top new grade, be drawing flight or other hazard pay and top efficiency pay. His pay and allowances then would total $10,104.

The top officer pay would go to a four-star general or admiral, with 30 years service, serving as a chief of staff, providing his own quarters and receiving hazard pay. His pay and allowances would come to $31,104.

Take Advantage Of Atomic Lead, America Urged

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—America should take advantage of its apparent lead over Russia in uses of atomic power for propulsion, a Democratic congressman from California says.

Existing knowledge, the enthusiasm of scientists and engineers, and money for a major project should be channelled into developing a space vehicle, the congressman, Rep. Chet Holified, told an insurance company's policyholders committee Thursday night.

Asserting that "control of space will not come from the possession of missiles alone," Holifield said "If we lose, we lose only dollars; if we win, we buy time to achieve peace."

Holified is senior member of the Joint Congressional Committee on Atomic Energy and was chairman of a special subcommittee which recommended starting the hydrogen bomb project during the Truman administration.

Death Ended Terms Of 77 'Lifers' In Ohio Prisons In Last 10 Years

By BILL TERRY

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—In how many cases does a life sentence in prison mean exactly that?

During the last 10 years death ended the terms of 77 lifers at Ohio Penitentiary and London Prison Farm. Most of the men died in Ohio Penitentiary, some after being transferred there from other institutions for hospital treatment.

A variety of offenses got them life terms in prison—first degree murder, second degree murder, burglary of an inhabited dwelling at night, rape and entering a bank to commit a fellony.

Ohio Penitentiary alone at the first of the year held 655 lifers, and the number in other institutions brings the total to more than 1,000.

There are 265 lifers in the penitentiary serving first degree murder sentences, 251 serving second degree murder sentences, 64 for burglary of an inhabited dwelling at night, 50 serving rape sentences, 13 habitual criminals, 8 bank robbers and 4 kidnapers, according to Warden Ralph W. Alvis.

All lifers except those serving first degree murder sentences are eligible for parole consideration after 10 years. The governor can reduce a first degree murder sentence to second degree, making such inmates eligible for parole consideration after 20 years.

This was done in 125 cases in the last 10 years, and the men were paroled. Only six returned to prison, five as parole violators, one with a new sentence.

"That is the best parole record of any type of inmate," says Alvis.

Who are these men who die in prison?

One, Charles Sparks, actually was not a lifer but was sentenced to die in the electric chair for the Jan. 24, 1948, fatal shooting of James C. Case, Cincinnati cab driver. The original execution date was Oct, 1, 1948, but was changed to April 8, 1949.

Two days before the second execution date former Gov. Frank J. Lausche granted a reprieve to Aug. 4, 1949. Sparks died of tuberculosis in the penitentiary May 11, 1949, one month after his 24th birthday. He had spent 10 months and 16 days in prison.

Ben Rudner was nearly 53 when he died at the London Prison Farm. He was 30 when he began serving a second degree murder sentence for his part in the slaying of Don R. Mellett, crusading Canton newspaper editor.

The state said Rudner hired the man who shot and killed Mellett. The editor had warred against an alleged conspiracy between underworld figures and Canton police.

Rudner began his sentence March 1, 1927, for the July 16, 1926, slaying. The Ohio Pardon and Parole Commission in 1937 heard pleas for his release, continued his case for his entire life term. But in February, 1949, the board agreed to give him another hearing in 1952. Six months later Rudner died of a heart ailment, Aug. 10, 1949.

Two others are serving first degree murder sentences for the same crime, Pat McDermott at the penitentiary and Floyd Streitenberger at the prison farm.

Ollie Scudder outlasted one life sentence, but died of a heart attack while serving the second. Both times he was sentenced from Franklin County for burglary of an inhabited dwelling at night.

Scudder was 27 when he began his first sentence and he was paroled 14 years later, on Sept. 1, 1939. Less than six months later he was back again serving a life sentence, from which death by a heart attack released him July 6, 1950, at the prison farm.

A heart condition also was fatal to Albert B. Lukens, whose victim's body was found burning in the furnace of an Akron church where Lukens was custodian.

Miss Ruth Zwicker, 24, who had gone to church to practice playing the piano, was the victim. One Sunday in April 1941, members of the congregation complained the church was too hot. Investigation turned up Miss Zwicker's body in the furnace.

Lukens, who was 57 at the time, said that when he tried to kiss Miss Zwicker she fell and struck her head on the piano. Later he said he put her body on the coal pile.

Convicted of first degree murder Lukens entered the penitentiary Sept. 22, 1941 and died in the penitentiary hospital July 27, 1956.

The fatal shooting of a race judge, Fred Gerherty, resulted in a life sentence for Marion (Slim) Webb, horseman. The jury disagreed during the first trial in Summit County. Webb pleaded guilty to homicide after the second trial began and the judge set the conviction at first degree murder.

Webb began his life term July 1, 1924, walked away from the Lebanon Honor Camp of London Prison Farm Oct. 9, 1939, and gave himself up to Los Angeles police Jan. 1, 1940. He died in the penitentiary hospital March 7, 1949, of circulatory failure.

Those are but a few of the 77 men who died in prison during the last ten years while serving life sentences.

On the average, prisoners live longer than persons in the normal work-a-day world, says M. C. Koblentz, chief of the state division of correction. That is because they are always under close observation where physical defects can be promptly discovered and corrected.

Dramatic New Hearing Pleasure Now Possible With "3-D" Binaural Hearing Aids

Mr. Vaupel

Major design and engineering advances in the hearing aid field assure a brighter future for many persons who have hearing loss in both ears, including those who object to hearing aids for reasons of vanity, according to W. E. Vaupel, local Zenith Hearing Aid dealer at 604 St. Clair Ave.

Binaural or both-ear hearing can, according to Zenith engineers, be enjoyed henceforth by most hard-of-hearing people whose loss is not too severe, nor too unlike in character in either ear.

The use of an ear-level hearing aid at each ear makes it possible for the wearer to utilize his maximum hearing. At the same time, it brings hearing back into balance, and enables him to enjoy much of the fullness and richness of sound experienced by people with normal hearing.

Mr. Vaupel reports that the primary benefits of binaural hearing are improved distance, direction, and discrimination — hence the "3-D" designation for Zenith's binaural aids.

Elaborating on these benefits, Mr. Vaupel pointed out that improved distance judgment provides a major safety factor. The hard-of-hearing person who is able to judge the distance of sound accurately, has more time to react to the warning sounds of danger.

He or she will also be thrilled to learn how easy it is to follow group conversations, to pinpoint a sound, and instantly identify the direction from which it came. And lastly, with Zenith's at-the-ear binaural hearing aids, words and sounds become more distinct and understandable.

Zenith's eyeglass hearing aid*, with a complete 4-transistor circuit in each temple bar, provides the ideal medium with which to obtain the full benefits of binaural hearing. In addition, the slim, trim beauty of these new eyeglass hearing aids has opened the way to better hearing for many persons who have heretofore objected to hearing aids for reasons of vanity.

The new Zenith "Vogue" for women, and the "Executive" for men, are readily adaptable to most eyeglass frames, and are available in three attractive colors — black, brown, and strato-bule.

Mr. Vaupel has invited all who have not yet experienced the benefits of binaural hearing to call at his office, 604 St. Clair Ave., for a free demonstration. He assures all who try it that they will be thoroughly convinced of its advantages, and the cost is amazingly low. Only $50.00 to $175.00.

*Lenses, frame fronts, and related professional services in connection with the Zenith Eyeglass Hearing Aid are available only through your ophthalmologist, optometrist or optician.

Doctor Says Medicine Prices Could Be Cut

YOUNGSTOWN, Ohio (AP) — Dr. Lewis S. Shensa of the Mahoning County Medical Society has told medical service representatives the price of medicine could be reduced 10 to 20 per cent if pharmaceutical and surgical supply manufacturers would stop spending thousands of dollars on samples and expensive brochures to doctors.

He told 35 area salesmen representing most of the large drug firms that promotion to acquaint physicians with new drugs is not necessary since the doctors are acquainted with new advances through medical journals. Shensa said most of the samples wind up in the wastebaskets.

Living Theater On Live TV

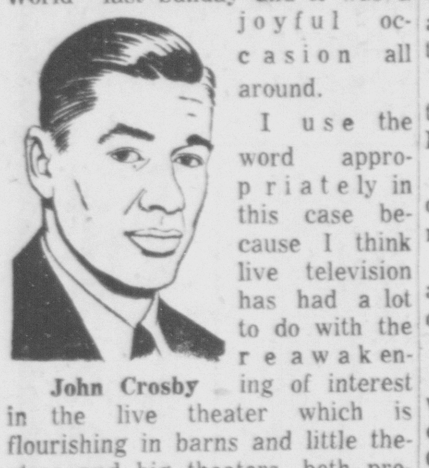
The persistent flowering of the theater from Greenwich Village to San Diego was celebrated appropriately on NBC-TV's "Wide Wide World" last Sunday and it was a joyful occasion all around.



John Crosby

I use the word appropriately in this case because I think live television has had a lot to do with the reawakening of interest in the live theater which is flourishing in barns and little theaters and big theaters, both professionally and nonprofessionally, more resoundingly than at any other time in my memory.

Earlier this year, "Wide Wide World" tackled the subject of television but came a cropper. This, I think, is because television is "WWW's" bread and butter and it approached the topic self-consciously, diffidently.

The theater was something else again. It has the respectability of age and it is not so much a competitor as a stimulant and an elder brother and just possibly a distinguished ancestor.

"WIDE WIDE WORLD" has embraced many more difficult subjects with greater technical facility and breadth of imagination. But never, to my knowledge, has it captured the enthusiasm and fun and pinpointed with such simplicity the essential heart of the matter quite so well as this.

Or possibly it's just because the theater is everyone's business. We watch a "Wide Wide World" exploration of guided missiles either fascinated or bored, depending on our inclinations, but in any case not of it, not with it, as we are of the theater. Whatever else this show had, it had empathy in vast abundance.

The show opened with the cameras ogling the marquees around town — "Time Remembered," "The Music Man," "West Side Story," "The Entertainer"— and then repaired to Sardi's, the theater's own restaurant.

Normally Sardi's isn't open on Sunday, but there at a round table were Helen Hayes; Harold Clurman, the director; Robert Whitehead, the producer; William and Jean Eckart, designers; Peter Ustinov, playwright and actor; John McClain, critic; Arthur Laurents, playwright — each representing his special point of view.

THE CAMERAS kept coming back to Sardi's, but they darted around the country inspecting an amateur theater at San Diego where a husband and wife — he an electrician, she a costume designer — spoke of the joys of nonprofessional participation, then to the children's theater at Evanston, Ill., where kids were told to be fog, to be wind, to be elves (just like their grownup counterparts in the Actors Studio are asked to represent themselves as trees), thence to the drama school at Carnegie Tech, first school to give a college degree in the theater (there are now 400 of them).

After each of these visits, the show switched back to Sardi's for a little talk from the theater people there. Robert Preston and Melvyn Douglas, both reformed movie actors, spoke of the virtues of live theater.

"In the theater you learn something new every day," said Mr. Preston.

Said Mr. Douglas: "You are part of the event, creating an event right in front of the people's eyes."

(Both comments, I might add, apply with equal force to live as opposed to filmed television.)

-:-

MR. USTINOV spoke a little wistfully of the governmental and civic support of the theaters in Germany as contrasted to this country and England which has far less of that sort of thing.

Mr. McClain — critics forever are adding a sour note — intimated that he was a little tired of that dreary Southern town with the washing in the backyard and the everlasting train whistles and wondered what happened to playwrights of the stripe of the late Philip Barry or the quick Noel Goward.

There was a tantalizing glimpse of "The Threepenny Opera," now in its third year in Greenwich Village, and a plausible explanation from Mr. Laurents of why off-Broadway productions are doing so well.

"Some hits are not very good plays and some flops are very good plays indeed."

I won't pretent there weren't dull patches here and there. But through the whole hour and a half there shone the sheer aliveness of the live theater.

To pronounce a benediction, Dave Garroway called on Helen Hayes, who came up with a quote from Maxwell Anderson which rang like a bell:

"The living theater is a religious institution devoted entirely to the exaltation of the spirit of man."

Circus Begins Quiet Exodus From Florida

SARASOTA, Fla. (AP)—The Ringling Bros. and Barnum & Bailey Circus began a quiet departure from winter quarters today.

In contrast to the ceremonious departure of the big special train needed for the old-style circus, with bands, city officials and thousands of fans on hand, the performers, animals and equipment of the streamlined circus are going piecemeal by train, truck and automobile.

The circus makes it first appearance in Charlotte, N.C., March 25. From there it goes to New York for its annual 40-day stand in Madison Square Garden beginning April 2.

The circus discarded its old "big top" tent show in 1956 and now performs in big arenas — indoor and outdoor.

Relief Clients Up

WARREN, Ohio (AP)—W. S. Wike, Trumbull County welfare director, reports county relief clients have increased by almost 50 per cent since Jan. 1. He estimated Thursday that 700 relief cases are being carried by his department.

Two Resign After School Levy Loses

Board President, Superintendent Quit In West Virginia

MOUNDSVILLE (AP) — Defeat of a special levy for improvements in the Marshall County school system was followed within 48 hours by resignation of the president of the board of education and the superintendent of schools.

Board President Dr. William Paul Bradford and Supt. Louis R. Potts indicated that they felt the outcome of the election indicated a lack of confidence in the school administration.

The special levy, intended to raise $320,000 annually, was turned down in an election held Tuesday. Only 48 per cent of the voters favored it. A 60 per cent majority was required for passage.

The resignations of the heads of the school system came at a special meeting of the board of education called yesterday when Bradford made his intention known.

He said the people of the county signified they "have no desire to pay for any better education for their children. It is unbelievable that adults could be so blind to obvious needs."

The increased property taxes were to have provided teachers' raises, new buses, repairs to school buildings and other improvements in the county educational plant and system. Of the approximately one-third of the eligible voters who balloted, 3,480 were for the levy and 3,843 against it.

Bradford has served on the five-man board for nine years. His resignation was made effective March 31. Bradford's successor as a board member will be chosen at the next regular meeting on April 8. A new president will be elected at the June 10 board meeting.

Potts became superintendent of schools in the county in 1935. He said he would continue in his office until June 30 or as long after that date as was necessary until a new superintendent could be found.

Democrat Foe Hits Governor

County Party Group Spurs Dinner Plans

Criticism of Gov. C. William O'Neill for obtaining out-of-state men in his administration was leveled by Atty. Robbert N. Gorman of Cincinnati, Democratic candidate for governor in the May primaries, at a meeting of the Columbiana County Democratic Central Committee Thursday night at the Travelers Hotel.

Atty. Gorman pointed out Gov. O'Neill had gone outside of Ohio to get a highway director and health director. He also charged the finance director has midjudged the state's income and the state "is going into the red."

Gorman recommended a milk administration system similar to Pennsylvania's to aid farmers and dairymen.

Further plans were made for the county Jefferson - Jackson Day dinner April 26 at East Palestine. Roast turkey and dressing was selected for the menu. The meal will be served by the women of Our Lady of Lourdes Catholic Church.

Rep. James Roosevelt of California will be guest speaker. Others who will attend include Atty. Gorman, Stephen M. Young of Cleveland, candidate for U. S. senator; Mark McElroy of Cleveland and Marion Ross of Columbus, candidates for attorney general, and George Hubbell of Cleveland, candidate for lieutenant governor.

Don R. Gosney of Columbia, county chairman, said further plans for the dinner will be made at a meeting early next month. He said he will name committees for the dinner next week. Gosney was toastmaster.

WHAT DOCTORS SAY ABOUT:

Better Health Through Knowledge

• Leg Length • Nailbiting • Baby's Cry • Repeat Polio

Q. Can one leg be shorter than the other without causing noticeable limp?

A. Yes, but if one leg is very much shorter the person will walk with a peculiar gait. Even a little difference in leg length can cause trouble. When one leg is shorter than the other the pelvis tilts. Leg and back muscles are put under stress and become painful. If the condition is not corrected the spine will be pulled out of line causing curvature with shoulder drop. Doctors watch for uneven leg length in children and, when necessary, prescribe corrective shoes. They also consider unequal leg length when grownups complain of having had "bad backs" or leg trouble for many years.

Q. How can nailbiting be stopped?

A. Nailbiting is a sign of nervousness and tension. Overcome these and nailbiting stops. Nagging and punishment won't help and it does no good to apply bitter drugs to the nails.

Q. Can you tell whether a baby is sick by the way he cries?

A. Sometimes, but watch out for the baby who is too sick to cry. The child who looks sick but just whimpers may be in serious trouble. Babies can get sick in a hurry. If there is any doubt, call a doctor.

Q. Can polio strike the same person twice?

A. Yes, There are three main types of polio virus, and disease due to one will not necessarily induce resistance against the others. There are reports in the medical literature of second attacks of polio.

Material in MEDICAL MIRROR is based on various scientific publications and does not necessarily reflect the opinion of all doctors. The diagnosis and treatment of disease requires the skill and knowledge which only a physician can apply by personally attending the patient.

Letters will be answered in these columns

Warns It Invites Prosecution

Supreme Court Rules Out Picture-Taking In Courts

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Ohio's highest court has ruled out—picture-taking in the court-room.

The State Supreme Court warned Thursday that to take pictures during courts sessions is to invite prosecution for contempt. A rule which backs up the warning applies to all courts of record in Ohio.

Courts of record keep a permanent record of their proceedings and have the power to fine or imprison for contempt of court.

Rule 29, adopted unanimously by the judges Thursday, is considered to be an implementation of Canon 35. Canon 35 of judicial ethics bans photographs and radio or television broadcasts of court proceedings.

Supreme Court aides said the new rule is mandatory, while Canon 35 refers only to ethics. The canon does not oppose picture-taking before or after sessions when the court is in recess.

The State Supreme Court's action followed the appearance of photographs in the Cleveland Press, said to have been taken during sessions in the Statehouse Annex courtroom without knowledge of judges or spectators.

The court's special announcement said:

"It has come to the attention of this court that a newspaper recently published a series of photographs surreptitiously taken during a session thereof.

"Canon 35, canons of judicial ethics, read as follows:

" 'Proceedings in court should be conducted with fitting dignity and decorum. The taking of photographs in the courtroom during such proceedings and the broadcasting or televising of such proceedings from the courtroom tend to detract from the essential dignity of the proceedings, distract the witness in giving his testimony, and create misconceptions with respect thereto in the mind of the public and should not be permitted.'

"It was thought that this language is plain and unambiguous and that any reasonable layman would understand from a reading of the canon that it was intended to prohibit the taking of photographs by a layman. However, it seems that there may be some who do not so understand it, or who, understanding it, choose to disregard it.

"Therefore, in order to make the matter unmistakably clear, this court, effective immediately, as an implementation of Canon 35, is adopting and announcing the following rule of court, to be known as Rule 29:

" 'The photographing of a session of a court of this state or the broadcasting or televising of such session is prohibited, and any violation of this rule shall be considered a contempt of that court and punishable as such.' "

The state bar association urged the Supreme Court to inititate contempt proceedings after the picture-taking incident.

However in Cleveland, Louis B. Seltzer, editor of the Cleveland Press, said Canon 35 is merely a "rule adopted by the bar association" and "is not changed by any statement made by the Supreme Court of Ohio."

Selter said: "Canon 35 must go. I think it conflicts with the public's right to know."

A test case involving Canon 35 was taken to the U. S. Supreme Court by the Cleveland Press, but the case was not admitted.

Hospitals Due For Inspection

124 Births Reported To City Health Unit

Dr. E. G. Kuhlman, city health commissioner, called the attention of the Board of Health Thursday night to the need for the annual inspection of the City and Osteopathic Hospitals. The board met in the City Hall headquarters.

The board must pass upon applications of the hospitals to operate maternity departments before June 1 each year. The two institutions will be inspected by the board and its representatives at the next meeting April 17.

Mrs. Luella Bevan, registrar of vital statistics, reported 124 births —69 males and 55 females—here during the five-week period ending March 20.

Of this number, 59 were born to East Liverpool parents, 19 to Wellsville, 18 to Chester, 6 to Midland, 5 to Irondale, 4 each to Newell and Salineville and 3 to Smiths Ferry. The others were to parents in scattered communities. During the same period there were 21 adult male deaths, 17 adult females and 2 infants, for a total of 41.

Mrs. Jeannette Carpenter, nurse, reported 10 patients admtted to the tuberculosis control, 2 to cancer control, 2 to heart disease control and one mentally ill to the morbidity control. Three blood tests were made and nine triimmunal shots and two smallpox vaccinations were given in the clinic.

Sanitary Inspector Septimus Cook reported a total of 164 inspections and investigations during the month. The inspections included 26 restaurants, 14 taverns, 13 groceries and meat markets, 5 alleys, 2 poolrooms and 2 theaters. He also answered 53 complaints.

City Chemist Donald T. Duke said he analyzed nine milk samples submitted to him during the month and all met the health board requirements.

Headlights On Cars Aid Plane Landing

KANAB, Utah (AP) — A small plane was spotted circling Thursday night over Kanab, just north of the Utah-Arizona state line.

Townspeople rushed an estimated 300 cars to the small, unlit municipal airport to light up the runway with headlights.

The plane landed short of the runway, narrowly missed a few cars and hit a tree. Aboard were K. L. Lincoln, 37, Alamo, Calif., contractor, and his wife Audrey, 35. They were en route to Las Vegas, Nev., from Phoenix, Ariz. They were taken to Kane County Hospital, where their injuries were described as not serious. The plane was demolished.

17 Pittsburgh Men Indicted For Bribery

PITTSBURGH (AP) — Seventeen Pittsburgh district men have been indicted by an Allegheny County grand jury in charges they bribed or attempted to bribe a policeman to protect alleged gambling operations.

They were arrested several weeks ago following more than a year of undercover work by Patrolman John James and a special squad of officers. James was the only witness as the grand jury handed down the indictments yesterday.

Cub Scout Planning Meeting Set Tonight

A planning meeting for the March program will be held by Cub Pack 33 tonight in the parish hall of St. Stephen's Episcopal Church, according to Lawrence Zollinger, institutional representative. The month's theme is Alaska.

Plans will be made for the installation of officers March 28 in the Parish Hall. They include Zollinger, Sterling Hanselman, Arthur Eccleston, Kenneth Eardley, Herbert Anderson and Lawrence Brokaw, committeemen; Raymond L. Oliver, cubmaster, and Mrs. Jean Hanselman, Mrs. Jean Ramsey, Mrs. Lena Blythe, Mrs. Constance Brokaw and Mrs. Elizabeth Oliver, den mothers.

Campaign Set At Meeting Here

Car Dealers Act To Spur Buying

With the hope of boosting lagging sales in their own field and giving the district economy in general a shot in the arm, members of the Columbiana County Automobile Dealers Association fired the opening gun in a "Buy Now" campaign during a meeting Thursday night in the Travelers Hotel.

Patterned after promotions which have proved successful in Cleveland and other Ohio cities, the drive officially will be known as "You 'Auto' Buy Now."

MIKE TURK of East Liverpool, president of the association, presided during last night's dinner meeting attended by 35. In addition to those from here, auto dealers were present from Wellsville, Salem, Lisbon, Columbiana, East Palestine and Chester.

Harry George of East Liverpool was named chairman of a committee to prepare for the campaign. Assisting him will be: Harold Brittain of East Palestine, Tom Grafton of Wellsville, Wilbur Coy of Salem, George Herman of Columbiana, M. J. Lewis of Lisbon, Jerry Carroll, Everett Chandler, Gerald Walworth and Robert Metcalfe.

The date for the opening of the campaign will be set later. The association will elect officers during a meeting April 16 in the Travelers Hotel.

A dinner and auto parade were among activities discussed to stimulate interest in the program before it gets under way officially.

Turk, in submitting the "buy now" idea for consideration by the association, emphasized the role the auto industry plays in any community and called for an intensified effort to get the campaign rolling.

WHILE THE auto dealers will spearhead the event, Turk pointed to the need for a communitywide tie - in to benefit not only the dealers, but other businesses as well.

During the discussion, several of those present pointed to the coming campaign as an effective weapon in combatting the "fear psychology" which so often causes prolonged business slumps.

In conjunction with the communitywide theme, Chandler, secretary of the East Liverpool Chamber of Commerce, will present the proposed campaign to that organization for consideration at its next meeting.

County 4-H Dairy Club To Meet Tuesday Night

LISBON—The Columbiana County 4-H Dairy Club will meet Tuesday at 8 p. m. at the Lisbon Grange Hall.

Man Can Relax Now, Didn't Commit Murder

EL PASO, Tex. (AP)—Ismael Pina can relax. Officers in Juarez, Mexico, says the man he thought he stabbed to death is back at work and declines to prosecute.

Out in Patterson, Calif., Police Chief Alex Kosich said Pina, 35, walked into his office and said, "I want to give myself up. I'm wanted for murder."

Chief Kosich said Pina told him he was in a fight in Juarez Sept. 3 and stabbed Francisco Molina, son of the sheriff, and Molina died the next day.

A check in Juarez revealed that Molina received only a slight knife wound and was out of the hospital and back on his job the next day.

Once In A Lifetime . . .

The more than 14,000 fans who will pack St. John arena today and Saturday for the state cage finals could be witnessing "a once in a lifetime."

It could be years— and years— before any state tournament again has all four Class "AA" teams entering the finals undefeated. This marks the first time in the tournament's 36-year history.

And it probably will be even longer before seven of the eight teams journey to Columbus with unblemished records.

Combined the Class "AA" and "A" teams have won 196 games while losing three. One Class "A" team — Pleasantville — lost the three games.

—:—

ALL THE Class "AA" teams have won 24-0, while the longest victory strings are posted by Northwestern and Dixie, both with 27 straight.

These two squads played additional games since they went through county competition and the sectional, district and regional tourneys.

The other Class "A" team, Holmes-Liberty, sports a 24-0 record.

This tournament promises to top the 1957 show at Columbus — if that is possible. A year ago three of six games played ended in overtime, including the Class "A" championship game which saw Ayersville nip Gratis, 74-73, in an extra period.

The other two overtimes were played before the Friday night crowd when Jerry Lucas and Middletown had to go an extra three minutes to knock off a scrappy Toledo Macomber team, 70-65. Kent Roosevelt went into overtime to eliminate Cleveland Latin, 62-54.

East Tech Could Pull Upset . . .

PAUL WALKER, Ohio's schoolboy coach of the year, and his Middletown Middies, again are favored to pick up all the marbles, but don't sell the other three teams short.

On paper, Columbus North appears the weakest in the two-day classic, but can't be taken lightly when you consider its 24-0 record.

Zanesville, the smallest team in the tourney, is back in the state finals after a two-year layoff. Coach Wayne Ashbaugh, considered one of the top tutors of basketball in the Buckeye state, led his Zanesville squad into the winners circle in 1955.

The Blue Devils were the last team to win the tournament before Jerry Lucas appeared on the Ohio scene.

Last, but not least, of the four teams is Cleveland East Tech, and from all we have heard, this squad is strong in all departments. The East Tech cagers have size, shooting ability and one of Ohio's top cagers in Jim Stone.

We wouldn't bet against Middletown. With Lucas in the lineup, the Middies haven't been defeated in 76 straight games.

However, we feel that if any team upsets Middletown in the tourney, it will be Cleveland East Tech.

We look for Tech to get past Zanesville tonight and set the stage for Saturday night's finale.

In the Class "A" tournament, we'll take Northwestern as the next champion among the smaller schools.

Along with Coach John Karaffa and his assistant, Dan Altemese, your sports editor will be at ringside to see if any of these predictions come true.

Hewitt Assigned To Williamsport . . .

GEORGETOWN'S Phil Hewitt left earlier this week for Kissimmee, Fla., where the Williamsport Club of the Eastern League opened spring training Wednesday.

Hewitt was assigned to the Pennsylvania club and hopes to stick with Williamsport. It would be a big jump for the centerfielder signed by the Philadelphia Phillies a year ago.

The Eastern League is a Class "A" loop. Hewitt played "C" ball last year with Salt Lake City of the Pioneer League.

Phil played regular outfield for the Salt Lake nine last year and batted around .275. He joined the pitching staff in the late season when injuries and sore arms benched several members of the mound corps.

The Eastern League will open its season April 21. Roy Clunk is manager at Williamsport.

This 'N That In Sports . . .

THE WESTLAKE brothers, Bob and George, baseball's oldest living twins, will be 92 Monday.

Both played baseball on the local diamonds before starting their professional career and have relatives living in the Pughtown area.

Bob is in New Mexico, while George still resides at Belmont, Ohio.

ANOTHER FRUSTRATED moment passed for Bill Laughlin Wednesday night when he saw his team lose the WPIAL Championship to Charleroi by one point.

This is the farthest the former East Liverpool coach has gone with the Presidents, but Bill has led Washington to nine section championships in his 12 years there.

—:—

RED MANNING, who was named head coach at Duquesne this week, played in several Tri-State tournaments when the Dukes appeared here several years ago. We remember Red as a deadly set shot.

—:—

ALTHOUGH school won't be out for several months yet, several Potter athletes already have their eyes on college.

Tom Bryan is giving Wake Forest a good bit of consideration and Gary Hill is headed for Geneva College. George Hale, East Liverpool's All-Ohio back, is still set on Ohio State.

—:—

WE WOULDN'T be surprised to see Tink Healey returning to Ohio basketball circles next year at Canal Fulton near Kent.

The former Wellsville cage mentor stepped into Pennsylvania basketball at Belle Vernon this past season.

THE PENN-OHIO baseball league will hold its first annual banquet Sunday at 2 p. m. at Carm's Sporting Goods Store in New Castle. The East Liverpool Merchants and Midland CIO are members of the league. Art Petrosky of Midland will be one of the speakers at Sunday's event.

—:—

ONE OF THE TOP equipment managers in the Navy is Frank (Digger) Dawson, who managed teams at East Liverpool High and Baldwin Wallace before entering the service.

"Digger" was recently congratulated by the head coach at the Naval Amphibious Base at Little Creek, Va., for a job "well done" as manager of the force athletic teams.

Before reporting to Virginia, Dawson managed the championship basketball team at Bainbridge Naval Training Center in Maryland. He is scheduled to be discharged in June.

JACK DOPLER, who holds the ELHS scoring record in football, will be looking forward to a spot on the Army football team next fall when he begins his second year at West Point, but a "jinx" seems to be following Jack in his first year.

We learned that Jack has dislocated his shoulder three times and has been hospitalized on three other occasions for a bronchial condition.

Lemon Due First Stint Against Cubs Sunday

TUCSON, Ariz. (AP)—Bob Lemon, coming along slowly after his arm injury last season, will go to the mound for the first time this season when Cleveland plays the Chicago Cubs Sunday.

A 20-game winner seven times but only a 6-11 performer in 1957 because of his arm, Lemon can pitch as far as he wants in the game, Tribe Manager Bobby Bragan said. The 37-year-old right-hander has been testing his arm in batting practice hurling and feels he's now ready to try it out under game conditions.

Another ailing hurler, Cal McLish, will test his injured elbow against the Baltimore Orioles Saturday.

Middies Favored To Win 3rd Straight Title

All Class 'AA' Teams Show 24-0 Records

By FRITZ HOWELL

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—The most fantastic state championship tournament in Ohio's high school basketball history gets under way today at Ohio State's St. John Arena.

Four teams with identical 24-0 records go after the Class AA title, and three unbeaten quintets and one with a 22-3 mark battle for the Class A laurels.

Middletown, winner the last two seasons and riding a 76-game winning streak, is favored in the big school division in which 387 teams started the campaign. The smaller school contingent, in which the four finalists are survivors of 646 starters, is wide open.

Jerry Lucas, 6-10 senior who holds all the state tournament scoring records, is the reason the marvelous Middies are favored to take Columbus North in tonight's fray and then triumph over the Tech-Zanesville scrap.

In this afternoon's games Pleasantville (22 - 3) faced Bucyrus Holmes-Liberty (24-0), and Northwestern of Wayne County tangled with Dixie of Montgomery County, each sporting a 27-0 record. The winners meet at 2 p. m. Saturday for the title won a year ago by Ayersville of Defiance.

In addition to Lucas, the Middies have a defensive setup which has stopped everyone over the last three years. Coach Paul Walker, who appears ready to move into the collegiate field after the weekend scraps, says his defense is a "stratified, transitional man-to-man defense with a zone principle."

Opposing coaches find the definition as difficult to understand as to penetrate. In the 76-game winning streak the Middies have triumphed by an 84.6 to 57.2 average margin.

Walker is going after his sixth championship in 12 years, and Middletown after its eighth in 15. If the Middies make it, they'll become the first team since Dayton Stivers in 1928-29-30 to triumph three straight years.

Sellouts of over 13,000 were assured for both of today's sessions, as well as Saturday's Class AA finals. Tickets for tonight's Class AA games were selling for $25 each at Zanesville, with few available at the price as the home town fans held on to their ducats to watch the 1926 and 1955 champions go against Each Tech.

Columbus, Dayton and Zanesville stations were scheduled to televise the contests, and heavy statewide radio coverage also was on tap, assuring the stay-at-homes a look or a listen.

Winners of today's Class A games meet at 2 p. m. Saturday for the championship, with the Class AA finalists clashing at 8 p. m.

Delany Leads Field In Meet At Cleveland

CLEVELAND (AP)—Ron Delany, the Irish speedster, will help put a flourish on the finish of the indoor track season tonight at the Knights of Columbus meet here.

Delany, who set a new mark for the indoor mile just last week in Chicago, will be after his 24th straight indoor mile victory. No one is predicting another lowering of the record, primarily because it takes 12 laps to make a mile at the Arena.

Delany covered 11 laps in setting the new record of 4:03.4 last week. He captured the event here last year in 4:10.4.

Included in the four-man field running against Delany are Burr Grim of Maryland and Arnie Sowell, former Pitt 1,000-yard run champ, who now is in the Army at Ford Ord, Calif.

Sowell lacks experience in the mile, and Grim set the first-half pace but was among those outdistanced by Delany at Chicago last week.

Also in prospect tonight are a fast two-mile anl sizzling university mile and two-mile relays.

In the two-mile run, John Nacy, 28-year-old Polish refugee who is running for Houston, Tex., Athletic Club, and Iowa's Charley (Deacon) Jones will renew a rivalry in which Macy holds a 2-1 edge in victories.

An Ohio State mile relay team, anchored by Glenn Davis, will be matched against an ace University of Pittsburgh team, with the Buckeyes favored on the strength of their 3:17.3 clocking in the Big Ten meet. That was the best time of this indoor season.

The university two-mile relay could produce a meet record. The fast field includes Illinois, Big Ten champion, and Manhattan and Michigan State.

Help From The Wife

STILLWATER, Okla. (AP) — Arlen Clark, Oklahoma State's deadeye basketball shooter, credits his 85 per cent average at the free throw line to his wife. Clark says he never worries about free throws after he missed one in the opening game of the season and his wife admonished him: "You should never miss a free throw. Nobody is guarding you on those shots."

CLEVELAND EAST TECH, one of the four undefeated class "AA" teams in the state tournament, will face Zanesville in the opener of the semi-finals tonight at Columbus. The players are, front row: Gerald Warfield, Henry Sellers, Sam Franklin and Nelson Brown. Middle row: Ken Glenn, James Vaughn, Ed Ferguson and Gene Lane. Back row: Coach John Broski, Ike Smith, LeMoyne Porter, Jim Stone, George Summers and assistant coach Joe Howell. (UP Telephoto)

Xavier Upsets Bonnies

Two Buckeye Teams Meet For NIT Crown Saturday

By BEN OLAN

NEW YORK (AP)—Impressive victories by top-seeded Dayton and unranked Xavier have set up an all-Ohio championship game in the National Invitation Basketball Tournament.

But Dayton Coach Tom Blackburn is not very happy about the pairing.

The Flyers rode over St. John's of New York 80-56 and Xavier knocked off third-seeded St. Bonaventure 72-53 in Thursday night's semi-finals in Madison Square Garden.

The finals will be played Saturday and will be preceded by a consolation game for third place between the Bonnies and St. John's.

Dayton advanced to the finals four times in its six previous NIT appearances and has yet to take home the championship. The Flyers were runners-up in 1951, 1952, 1955 and 1956.

"We would rather have played St. Bonaventure Saturday," said Blackburn. "We beat Xavier twice during the regular season and they'll be gunning for us. Also they're playing much better now than when we faced them." Dayton whipped the Musketeers 74-59 Jan. 19 and 64-58 Feb. 16.

Xavier's Hank Stein, 6-2 junior from Louisville, Ky., scored 27 points.

Xavier, which turned back Niagara and defending champion Bradley to reach the semis, had its lead reduced to three points early in the second half. But Stein got his team rolling again.

For a while it looked as though Dayton would have its hands full with St. John's. The Redmen led 39-38 in the fifth minute of the second half. But the Flyers forged in front behind the sharpshooting of Don Lane and Frank Case.

Jack McCarthy, Dayton's 6-6 center, was the game's high scorer with 25 points. Case had 23 and Lane 14.

Saturday's championship game will be nationally televised by CBS.

Logart, Akins Clash On TV

NEW YORK (AP)—Cuba's sleek Isaac Logart pits his speed and boxing skill against the punching power of veteran Virgil Akins in a 12-round bout tonight that will earn the winner a shot at the welterweight championship within 90 days.

Logart is a 7-5 favorite to win the third and "rubber" clash of the 147-pounders at Madison Square Garden.

For this semifinal of the elimination tournament each will receive a $20,000 guarantee plus the right to face Vince Martinez for the vacant title.

The championship has been open since Carmen Basilio had to yield it when he ascended to the middleweight throne by whipping Sugar Ray Robinson last Sept. 23.

Basilio, busy preparing for his defense against Robinson next Tuesday in Chicago, leans towards Logart.

"Logart has youth and speed going for him," said Basilio.

But the 30-year-old St. Louis veteran is supremely confident he will nail his 24-year-old rival from Camaguey, Cuba.

They met twice in 1955. Akins won the first by split decision while Logart beat his sluggish rival easily the second time.

NBC will broadcast and telecast at 10 p.m., EST.

Steubenville Ace On 'Little' All-America

By ED MEIER

NEW YORK (AP)—Jimmie Daniels a ball-hawking 5-11 whiz from Brooklyn who led South Dakota to the NCAA small college championship, dominates the 1958 little basketball All-America announced today by The Associated Press.

Joining the diminutive senior on the first team are 6-3 Dick Barnett, whose sensational set shooting sparked Tennessee State to its second straight NAIA championship; 6-6 Jim Smith of Steubenville (Ohio); 6-4 Mel Peterson of Wheaton (Ill.) and 6-9 Bennie Swain of Texas Southern.

They were chosen from recommendations of sportswriters and broadcasters. Similar to the big All-America, four are Negroes—Daniels, Barnett, Smith and Swain.

Daniels led South Dakota to a 64-60 upset over defending champion Wheaton in the semifinals of the NCAA small college tourney.

Barnett, a junior, was sensational on 20-foot set shots as he sparked Tennessee State to an 85-73 victory over top seeded and previously unbeaten Western Illinois for the NAIAI title. He was voted the most valuable player in the tourney.

Peterson, a soph, was Wheaton's star all season as the crusaders lost only three of 30 games and a 22-game streak that was snapped by South Dakota. Swain, a senior, led Texas Southern to a third place finish in the NAIA.

Players from New England schools dominated the second team composed of Rudy Finderson of Brandeis, Dick Kross of American International Nick Nicodemo of St. Michaels (Vt.), Ed Kazakavich of Scranton and Vern Baggenstoss of St. Cloud (Minn) Teachers.

Bob Hamblin, who led Little Chapman (Calif) to an upset victory over Fresno State in the NCAA tourney; Bill McAfoos, of Western Illinois; Charles Grote, of Georgetown (Ky.); Jim Bond of Pasadena and Al Pursell of Coe make up the 1958 third team.

Jerry Burnett of Arkansas State; Jack Milam of Western Illinois; and Herb Lake of Youngstown are on the honorable mention list of 62.

Herb Lake Mentioned On Little All-American

Midland's Herb Lake, a regular at Youngstown University for the past three years, was named on the honorable mention list of the Little All-American squad. Lake is a junior at Youngstown.

Too Hot To Handle

RICHMOND, Va. (AP)—Len Johnston, outfielder who has led the Richmond club of the International League in stealing bases, found something too hot to handle in the off season. He was sitting down in a restaurant when some rags near a grill burst into flames. Johnston tried to put out the fire but hot grease dripping down stopped him. He was treated for burns on his hands.

Kentucky, Temple Clash In Top NCAA Battle Tonight

Seattle, Kansas State Meet In Second Contest

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP) — Three-time champion Kentucky and neophytes Temple, Kansas State and Seattle tonight begin the scramble that in 24 hours will lead one of the four to the NCAA basketball championship.

Kentucky (21-6) meets Temple (26-2) in the opening semifinal, followed by K-State (22-3) vs. Seattle (22-5). Tonight's winners play for the title Saturday night after a consolation game for third place.

Big bruising Kansas State, the Big Eight champion, rates even money favorite with the oddsmakers. Kentucky's Southeastern Conference kings, old hands at NCAA play with 10 appearances and three titles, moved up at a late hour as second choice at 9-5. Temple, pride of the Middle Atlantic Conference and winner of 25 straight, was 3-1 and Seattle, the only "at large" survivor, 9-2 despite the presence of All America Elgin Baylor.

None except Kentucky has won an NCAA title, although Temple has tried twice, K-State three times and Seattle four.

All four teams went through final practices, Kansas State and Temple on slightly wobbly legs. Both teams encountered flight delays en route here because of the widespread snowfall.

Temple's All America Guy Rodgers wore a corset but said his back sprain, suffered in the Eastern regional at Charlotte, gave him no trouble.

The field's other casualty, Johnny Cox of Kentucky, limited his workout to loosening up and gave his swollen finger another day's rest. "He's okay," said Coach Adolph Rupp.

Tulane's Wells Heads College Cage Coaches

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP)—The college basketball coaches' organization had a new president today and—they hoped—the same rules under which the game was played this season.

Cliff Wells of Tulane was chosen president of the National Assn. of Basketball Coaches Thursday night during a meeting at which the coaches voted 77-6 against recommending any major rule changes.

Wells succeeds A. T. Gill of Oregon State, who becomes a member of the NABC's board of directors. The overwhelming vote against any major changes in the way the game is played sets somewhat of a precedent, ending a decade of wholesale switches in basketball regulations.

The decision of the coaches goes now to a Sunday meeting of the rule-making body, the National Basketball Committee of the U.S. and Canada. Changes are possible despite the coaches' vote, but unlikely.

Bayer Sports 3-Stroke Lead

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla. (AP) — Vim and vigor have returned to the big frame of George Bayer and the San Gabrie, Calif., professional hopes the $15,000 St. Petersburg Open will end his winter-long golfing slump.

Bayer went into today's round two strokes ahead of the field, thanks to an opening three-under-par 68—his best round in two months.

The current Canadian Open titleholder, he has won less than $1,000 off the winter tour. His best finish was a tie for 19th in the Tijuana Open.

Only six players in the field of 147 first round finishers managed to crack par over the soggy, wind swept Pasadena Golf Club course. It measures 6,256 yards and has a par of 36-35—71.

Bayer's fellow parbusters all had 70s. They were Dow Finsterwald, Tequesta, Fla.; Kay Brewer Jr., Cincinnati; Arnold Palmer Latrobe, Pa.; Bert Weaver, Beaumont, Tex.; and Jack Lumpkin, Athens, Ga.

Defending champion Pete Cooper of Lakeland was well back at 74. The only other former winner of this event in the field, Mike Fetchick of Yonkers, N.Y., the 1956 titlist, had a 71.

Heavy rains early in the week left puddles on almost every fairway and turned many sandtraps into miniature lakes.

Going On Like It Never Happened, Herb Score Says

TUCSON, Ariz. (AP) — "I'm just going along like it never happened," says Cleveland southpaw Herb Score of the accident that nearly ended his baseball career last May 7.

He worked three shutout innings against the San Francisco Giants Thursday and pronounced himself in good shape except for an ankle injury that still bothers him.

Hit in the right eye by a line drive, Score didn't pitch again in 1957 and when he came to this camp the question was whether he could come back.

To all intents and purposes he has done it, although two weeks ago he turned his ankle while working out in a gym.

"My eye is just fine and I don't notice any difference in my pitching," he says. "I haven't had any difficulty."

The question came up whether he might be a little gun shy of batted balls. "I don't think so, but that's something we'll have to prove," he said.

PICTURE OF DISGUST. Cincinnati Redlegs' pitcher Willard Schmidt is a picture of disgust as he turns his back with Henry Aaron rounding the bases after hitting his second home run in two trips to the plate against Schmidt. The Braves pounded the Reds and Schmidt at Bradenton, Fla., 11-1, in an exhibition game. (UP Telephoto)

Joe Collins To Retire After Trade To Phillies

By JOHN CHANDLER
Associated Press Sports Writer

The first baseman problem with the Philadelphia Phillies remained desperate today when Joe Collins of the New York Yankees retired from baseball after being sold to the Quaker City club for the $20,000 waiver price.

"If I can't be a Yankee, I'm through with baseball," Collins, 35, said at St. Petersburg, Fla.

Philadelphia had sought a first sacker after Ed Bouchee, an outstanding 1957 rookie, became involved with the law. Bouchee is now taking psychiatric treatment.

Harry Anderson was given a crack at the job by Mayo Smith, Phils' manager, but now is in the outfield. Thursday when the Yankees trounced the Phillies in an exhibition game 11-8 Frank Herera, a Cuban with Triple A experience, played first.

Collins, of Union, N.J., has been in the Yankee organization since 1939. He played over 100 games each season until 1957, when in 79 contests he batted only .201, his poorest year. Bill Skowron is the regular Yankee first baseman, and Marv Throneberry is the No. 2 man.

The two most valuable players of 1957, Mickey Mantle of New York and Hank Aaron of Milwaukee, both had two homers to lead their teams to victory.

Mantle's blasts and a double drove in six runs as the Yankees won their sixth straight.

Aaron also batted in four runs as the Braves belted the Cincinnati Redlegs 11-1 at Bradenton, Fla. Right-hander Bob Buhl won his first spring game for the world champions.

Baltimore defeated Chicago 4-1 in the first game of a twin bill at Scottsdale, Ariz., but the Cubs blanked the Orioles 1-0 in 10 innings in the second game.

The San Francisco Giants went 10 innings in defeating the Cleveland Indians 7-5 at Tucson, Ariz., on rookie catcher Bob Schmidt's homer on the first pitch by Gary Bell.

Jack Urban gave up five runs at Fort Myers, Fla., and the Pittsburgh Pirates defeated the Kansas City Athletics 7-4 behind the pitching of Ron Kline and Roy Face.

The Los Angeles Dodgers scored two runs in both the seventh and eighth innings and defeated Detroit 6-4 in a night game at Miami.

Washabaugh To Speak At Chester Cage Fete

Grover Washabaugh, athletic director of Westminster College, New Wilmington, Pa., will be guest speaker at the annual father-son basketball banquet of Chester High School Wednesday at 6 p.m.

Sponsored by the Purple and Gold Activities Club, the banquet will be held in the American Legion Post 121 Home with freshman, reserve and varsity squads, and coaches, managers and cheerleaders as guests.

Mrs. Robert Hindes is president of the Club.

2 More Stars Named To West In Shrine Tilt

KANSAS CITY (AP)—Jack Mimlitz of St. Louis University and Stan Albert of Colorado State have been named to the West squad for the annual East-West Shrine basketball game here Sunday.

The two complete the squad. Other members are Hub Reed, Oklahoma City University; Mike Farmer and Gene Brown of San Francisco University; Jack Parr and Roy DeWitz of Kansas State; Fred Grim, Arkansas, and Lyle Frahm, Iowa State.

Outstanding Grid Mark

GREENWOOD, S.C. (AP) — Pinky Babb, coach of the Greenwood High School football team the last 15 years, has one of the nation's best records. His teams have won 126 games, lost 29 and tied 10. He's had three unbeaten teams and only one losing season over that span. One of his prize pupils, Harvey White, was the star quarterback of the 1957 Clemson College team as a sophomore.

8 West Virginia Quints Launch State Title Bids

By DICK LEONARD

MORGANTOWN (AP) — The 45th annual State High School Basketball Tournament opened here Friday on a decidedly southern accent with two Class B Rebel teams. Ansted (23-0) clashed with Baileysville (22-3) at 1 p.m. in the first game of the two-day affair.

Charleston Stonewall Jackson (23-2) met Parsons (19-6) at 2:45 p.m. to get the Class A proceedings under way.

The evening games will pit Sherrard (9-16), the unsung team from Marshall County, against Aurora (23-0) at 6:30 in the Class B division, and powerful Princeton (25-0) against Parkersburg (20-4) in the Class A nightcap. The winners will meet Saturday afternoon with the state's Class A and Class B championships at stake.

Two southern teams — Princeton and Ansted — were overwhelming favorites to sweep to the respective Class A and Class B titles.

The two other southern teams—Stonewall Jackson and Baileysville — rated the nod to come through with the tourney laurels in the event the favorites failed to go all the way.

Rod Thorn, the 6-4 Princeton ace, held the tourney spotlight here. Thorn, only a junior and son of a Princeton policeman, had rival coaches burning the midnight oil figuring ways to handcuff him.

He is a fine ball handler, a great rebounder and has averaged more than 31 points per game. The straight-A student stands on the threshold of tourney fame gained by such past luminaries as Charleston's Rod Hundley, Huntington's Leo Byrd and East Bank's Jerry West.

Princeton's Coach Bus Brown joined the majority of the state's sports writers in picking his team to win.

"If we get beat — we'll beat ourselves," Brown said.

All but four of the 22 state sports writers, participating in the pre-tourney Associated Press poll, picked Princeton as the team to beat.

Coach Sam Mandich of Parkersburg and Coach Clyde B. Pudd Hutson of Stonewall Jackson agreed with Brown that Princeton is the team to beat. Parkersburg dropped a 67-59 decision to Princeton early in January.

Only Coach Neil Gutshall of Parsons disagreed with the majority. Gutshall tabbed Stonewall Jackson as the team to beat.

Stonewall's ace in the hole is team balance and as Hutson says: "The big thing about us is that we're never panicked when the pressure is on. Our shooting has always managed to come through and Malcolm Price has gotten more than his share of the rebounds."

Parkersburg, which has won four tourney titles, has made it to the state tourney four times during the six years Mandich has been at the helm. The Big Reds use a racehorse style of play most of the time.

Parsons is in a position to follow the path set by the 1934 Panthers, who pulled an astounding upset over Elkins in 1934 to cop the crown. Nobody gave them a chance with the exception of Gutshall.

As for Class B, Ansted's big guns are forwards Roger Eads and Johnny Skaggs, who have averaged more than 20 points a game each. Baileysville will counter with 6-5 center Alton Paynter, who has averaged 23 points a game.

Aurora is a well balanced ball club that owns two season victories over Kingwood, a team which split two games with Parsons.

Sherrard has been tabbed this year's Cinderella team on the basis of its tremendous tourney performance. The Rams won only four games, but then rose up to unprecedented heights to reel off five straight victories in tourney play.

Sports Writer Jimmy Stewart of the Wheeling News-Register calls Sherrard the team of destiny.

Players Agree With Owners On Proposed Bill

TAMPA, Fla. (AP)—Player representatives of the National and American Leagues agreed today with club owners that a proposed congressional bill regulating professional sports might lead to costly, drawn out court litigation.

After meeting with their attorney Thursday, player representatives from 11 of the 16 major league clubs reversed a February decision supporting the controversial measure sponsored by Rep. Celler (D-NY).

"On reconsidering, the player representatives in special meeting at Tampa today voted to withdraw endorsement of Congressman Celler's bill in its present form," the players said in a statement.

Originally, the players had endorsed the measure in the belief that club owners were in accord.

Rangers 'Thank' Hawks In Helping Nail 2nd Place

By The Associated Press

The New York Rangers can send a "thank you" note to the Chicago Black Hawks today for helping them nail down second place in National Hockey League.

Chicago's 5-4 victory over the third-place Detroit Red Wings Thursday night ended the Wings' hopes of catching the runnerup Rangers. It also left fourth-place Boston with an outside chance of overtaking Detroit.

Boston, which was idle, can move past Detroit by winning both of its remaining games while the Wings lose both of theirs.

In Thursday night's other game, the champion Montreal Canadiens whipped the Toronto Maple Leafs 7-4 and set a league record for total goals in one season. The Canucks have 243 and the old mark was 236 by Detroit in 1950-1951.

Traveling Teachers Visit High Schools

A LITTLE publicized group of ten specially-trained teachers have for many months been visiting hundreds of high schools throughout the United States in an effort to stimulate a greater interest among young people in scientific and engineering careers.

Working under the supervision of the Atomic Energy Commission, the Institute for Nuclear Studies and the Ford Motor Company, these teachers have teamed up to make possible this unique "traveling science" program.

In addition to conducting classroom demonstrations and lectures in a graphic manner, the instructors also confer with members of the teaching staff, exchanging ideas, experiences.

The instructors, chosen for their teaching ability and knowledge in the field of science, must attend a three-month course at Oak Ridge, Tennessee, before taking to the road with their specially equipped station wagons, outfitted with more than 800 pounds of simple, inexpensive science equipment to be used in class demonstrations.

Upon a teacher's request, the Traveling Science Demonstration Lecture Program will schedule a visit to an individual high school.

Shrimp, Mushrooms Garnish Popular Pizza

The growing popularity of pizza among youngsters and oldsters alike has turned the art of pizza-making into a do-it-yourself fad.

Armed with a box of pizza mix and any number of garnishes, from anchovies to American cheese and small hot sausage bits, the culinary artist can turn out TV or party snacks with little efforts, and still win praise for her creations.

Shrimp and Mushroom Pizza

1 package pizza mix
1 5-ounce can small shrimp or ½ lb. fresh or frozen shrimp
1 small can sliced mushrooms
1 small onion, peeled and sliced thin
½ clove garlic, crushed
1 tablespoon salad oil or olive oil
¼ pound sharp cheddar cheese, sliced thin

Prepare pizza dough as directed on package; let rise. Drain shrimp, rinse with cold water and drain again. Drain mushroom. Slice onion. Open can of Appian Way Pizza sauce and add to it the crushed garlic and salad oil. Pat out dough in a greased or oiled pizza pan, two 9-inch pie plates or a baking sheet.

Spread with sauce. Then dot with shrimp, sliced mushrooms and onion slices. Add cheese.

Bake in a hot oven of 425 degrees for 20 to 25 minutes, until crust is well browned and filling bubbly. Serve piping hot.
